

STEINER UNIT BATTLE ENDS IN LOVE FEAST; AGREEMENT REACHED

MAYOR IN ROLE OF PEACEMAKER AT CONFERENCE

All Misunderstandings Between Grady Staff and Trustees Are Obliterated and Forgotten.

CONDITIONS REMEDIED, SAYS JOSEPH HIRSCH

Agreement Provides Steiner Ward Shall Be Recognized as Distinct Unit of Grady Hospital.

All "misunderstands and disagreements" between the general staff of Grady hospital and trustees of the Albert Steiner ward and executors of the will were cleared up and an amicable settlement reached at a love feast held Sunday night in the medical assembly room of the hospital, assuring the continued "smooth functioning" of the cancer clinic as intended after the original will.

Joseph H. Hirsch, chairman of the board of trustees of the Steiner unit of Grady, declared that "everything which at first threatened to destroy" the purpose of the will had been remedied.

The following resolutions were agreed upon and adopted by the erstwhile dissenting factions:

1. The Steiner ward shall be recognized as a distinct unit of Grady hospital.
2. The staffs of the white and colored units of Grady hospital shall be active in attendance at the Steiner unit, serving simultaneously with their service in the respective departments of the hospital.
3. The consulting staff of the Steiner unit shall function as such and have the privilege of the hospital for private pay cases.
4. Unattached pay patients may be admitted to the hospital and furnished a list of staff physicians and surgeons advising them of the name of the physicians and surgeons on duty at the time.
5. The specialists employed in the Steiner unit by the Steiner executors will have complete charge of their respective departments of treatment.

MAYOR SIMS APPEARS IN PEACE MAKER ROLE.

Mayor Sims, acting as a peacemaker, presided over the meeting called by all parties concerned in the "misunderstanding" to avert any possible calamity befalling the "splendid purpose of Mr. Steiner."

The meeting was called following threats of Mr. Hirsch to withhold $25,000 annual income for the study and cure of cancer in the Steiner ward unless "certain serious conditions" in which "petty politics" figured in admission of patients, were removed.

The general staff of Grady hospital indignantly denied the charge that "petty politics" threatened to destroy the purpose for which the ward was established and stated that it would be better for Mr. Hirsch to withdraw the annual income and place it elsewhere, if he did not have full confidence in the integrity and honor of the general staff.

"Result of Misunderstanding."

Mr. Hirsch, chairman of the board of trustees of the ward, declared at the meeting that the "entire proceeding" had resulted from a misunderstanding and asserted that it was never his intention to even question the intentions or honor of the doctors who were more than willing to sacrifice themselves for the good of the ward and the hospital.

Threats to withdraw the $25,000 annual income for the study and cure of cancer were attributed to be the outgrowth of a conciliatory action following the office of Dr. B. B.

Guest of Atlanta Today

SECRETARY CHARLES E. HUGHES

COL. W. T. GENTRY, FORMER 'PHONE PRESIDENT IS DEAD

Dies After Long Illness. Rendered Valuable Service During World War. Funeral Services Today.

Colonel William T. Gentry, former president of the Southern Bell Telephone company, died at his residence, 555 West Peachtree, at 4:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon after a prolonged illness.

Colonel Gentry was for years active in civic and business affairs of Atlanta, and rendered invaluable service to the United States government during the world war through the telephone company.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Elton Lyon Pepper, Mrs. Milton French Carlin, Mrs. Malcolm Graham Phelan and Mrs. John J. Woodside, Jr.; two sons, James H. and T. R. Gentry, and three brothers, F. A. of Chattanooga, Tenn.; J. C. of Atlanta, and James H. Gentry, of Washington, D. C.

Funeral Services Today.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the residence, Rev. S. R. Belk officiating. Interment will be in West View cemetery with H. M. Patterson in charge.

Palbearers and escort are J. Epps Brown, Ben S. Reed, Addison Maupin, W. H. Adkins, Macon Martin, J. H. Graham, Frank M. Mikell, Charles Holditch, Frank Hawkins, Thomas W. Hardwick, John D. Little, W. H. Weaver and Evelyn Harris.

Had Vision of Growth.

When Mr. Gentry assumed charge of the business in the south, he had a vision of a telephone system which few shared. His enthusiasm won the necessary capital, and his confidence and hard work produced the result.

HUGHES IN CITY FOR MEETINGS OF BAR HEADS

Says He Is Glad To Be in City and Enjoying Stay, But Is Silent on Politics and Future Plans.

LEADERS OF U. S. BAR HERE FOR CONFERENCE

Convention City for Year To Be Selected—Hughes Is Honor Guest at Reception for Meldrim.

Charles Evans Hughes, president of the American Bar association, who resigned Saturday as secretary of state in the Coolidge cabinet, arrived in Atlanta Sunday morning from Washington to preside at the sessions today and Tuesday of the executive committee of the American Bar association, which will open at 10 o'clock this morning at the Biltmore hotel.

Mr. Hughes reached the city at 10:55 o'clock Sunday morning over the Birmingham special and was met at the Peachtree station by a committee composed of a number of leading members of the Atlanta bar, including Grover Middlebrooks, president of the local association; Henry B. Troutman, Robert B. Troutman, Henderson Hallman, Shepard Bryan, Robert C. Alston, Philip H. Alston, Robert S. Parker, Judge A. G. Powell and T. A. Hammond.

Mr. Hughes was accompanied from Washington to Atlanta by Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington, Del., who also is here to attend the bar meeting.

Attends Alston Reception.

The former secretary of state went immediately to his rooms at the Biltmore hotel. During the afternoon he attended an informal tea and reception given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Alston at their residence on Andrews drive in honor of General and Mrs. P. W. Meldrim, of Savannah. General Meldrim formerly was president of the American Bar association, and will preside at the banquet Monday.

The reception was attended by members of the national executive committee, most of whom arrived in Atlanta Sunday.

Mr. Hughes expressed his delight at being afforded the opportunity to visit Atlanta and attend the bar meeting, and said that he greatly appreciated the hospitality accorded him since his arrival in the city.

Mr. Hughes told The Constitution Sunday night that his stay in Atlanta would be free from newspaper interviews.

"It is a great pleasure to be in Atlanta, and I deeply appreciate the hospitality accorded me by the people here," said the former secretary, "but I have decided that during my stay here I will not grant any newspaper interviews."

In addition to Mr. Hughes, a number of other bar leaders are here.

BORAH BECOMES MORE POWERFUL AS HUGHES QUILTS

Idaho Senator Will Be Next in Influence to Coolidge in Shaping Nation's Foreign Policy.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Copyright, 1925, by United News Washington, January 11.—One fact which towers over the pile of confusing mysteries with which President Coolidge entertained the country over the week-end is that the resignation of Secretary of State Hughes makes Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, a far more powerful individual than he was 24 hours ago.

In the shaping of foreign policies, Borah is now destined to have more influence than anybody in the United States except President Coolidge himself.

There is considerable speculation as to whether the resignation of Hughes will mean a change in the policy toward Russia. Borah has long been an advocate of Russian recognition and President Coolidge has leaned rather toward that, though he has never definitely committed himself. Hughes was resolutely opposed to it and, for that reason, the president has sought to keep the question in the background.

Raise Question Soon.

Borah may be expected to raise the question before long again, and if he succeeds in arousing any general interest in it, the president may be persuaded to move in the direction of resumption of relations.

Many little political mysteries, surrounding several phases of the sensational double-shift which President Coolidge has just executed in his cabinet, are yet to be cleared up. But the most important fact is that the white house loses a powerful and unusually able advocate in the retirement of Hughes and acquires a rather colorless adjunct in Kellogg. The effect of this is to remove from the

BOY IS CONVICTED OF FIRST DEGREE MURDER BY JURY

Pottsville, Pa., January 11.—Fourteen-year-old William C. Cavalier was found guilty today of murder in the first degree for the killing of his grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Cavalier, 62, last July. The jury deliberated nearly 24 hours.

Cavalier was remanded to prison to await disposition of an application for a new trial. He showed no emotion when the verdict was delivered.

Attorneys for the commonwealth introduced testimony to show that Cavalier had shot his aged grandmother seven times and then stole $58 from her stocking as she lay dying on the floor. The defense pleaded moral insanity and four physicians testified that the boy was insane.

EBERT MAY NAME GERMAN DICTATOR

Utter Failure of Middle Parties To Form Cabinet Breeds Discord Throughout Nation.

EBERT CONSIDERS NAMING DICTATOR.

Berlin, January 11.—President Ebert is contemplating nominating a dictator to govern Germany, according to the "Montag Post." If Ebert should adopt this procedure he would prostrate the reichstag and send it home. The president has given consideration to this most unusual step much against his will, and only because German politicians have been unable to form a cabinet since the election, which was held in the first week of December.

BY ERIC KEYSER.

Berlin, January 11.—Vague rumors of a threatened revolution are sweeping over Germany.

For more than a month the leading middle-party politicians have been endeavoring to form a cabinet. No cabinet has been formed and Germany is getting restless. If the farce continues for another fortnight, there are rumors that both the communists and monarchists would like to take advantage of the popular dissatisfaction with a "putzsch."

The hints of revolution are vague and may be groundless, but the fact of their circulation tends to disturb the economic recovery that began with the adoption of the Dawes plan.

American Delegates Refer Questioners to Washington—To Accept Percentage of Dawes Receipts.

UNOFFICIAL CLOAK OF U. S. DOFFED, CLAIM

Delegates of Other Powers Say U. S. Now Has Become Active Participant in Reparations Row

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Paris, January 11.—General satisfaction that the United States through the agreement reached at the conference of allied ministers has become "one of the contracting parties" to the Dawes plan and the general reparations question was expressed by all the European delegations in the informal conversations among the representatives of the powers today. The European statesmen convened here hold that from mere unofficial observers the Americans have become "interested actors" in the solution of the reparations problem.

The experts committee spent the entire day unraveling the mass of figures bearing on the Ruhr occupation, the Belgian priority payments and the total German deliveries in kind. The committee must prepare resolutions which will be presented for ratification by the plenary session of the conference Tuesday.

Kellogg Congratulated.

The delegates enjoyed the usual Sunday holiday, although Ambassador Kellogg was busy receiving congratulations on his appointment as secretary of state, and Winston Churchill, the British chancellor of the exchequer, had the day well filled with various functions.

Despite the screen of secrecy behind which the delegates are working, details of the terms of the agreement are gradually leaking out from sources worthy of credence. The delegates find it difficult to smother their exultation or hide their disappointment, according to the success or failure of their efforts to have their point of view accepted by their colleagues.

Former Military Governor Unexpectedly Occupies City Without Firing of Shot.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Shanghai, January 11.—All the Chinese territory surrounding Shanghai was captured today by Chi Hsi-hsueh and his ally, Sun Chuan-fang, and outlying villages were looted, as a gesture of defiance to the provisional government at Peking.

The attack was aimed particularly to prevent the return to power of Lu Yung-hsiang, former tuchun of Chekiang province, who was reported as proceeding from Nanking toward Shanghai with Fengtien Manchurian troops.

The soldiers of Chi and Sun made a surprise attack this morning. By night they were in complete control of the region surrounding the foreign settlements. Fighting in the Lungwha in undisputed possession of Lungwha and the arsenal there.

Chang Yung-min, the defense commissioner appointed by Peking, has taken refuge with his subordinate commanders in the foreign settlements. Chang's troops made an unsuccessful resistance.

15-Year-Old Heiress Scorns Existence as Social Darling

BY H. O. THOMPSON.

Hollywood, Calif., January 11.—There are some girls to whom a movie career is without appeal. In fact 15-year-old Iris Bennett hates everything connected with the studio world.

Iris is back in Hollywood now, after running away from an exclusive girl's academy here a week ago. Four glorious days of freedom were spent in San Francisco, where Iris discarded her expensive clothes for the simple frock of a nurse maid.

"I love babies and hate the movies," she said when Mrs. Susanne Bennett, a society woman, discovered the menial station her daughter had taken.

"I still mean to be free and finally get away from this senseless way of living," Iris said Sunday, as she was again established in her sumptuous home here.

In her round of society functions, Iris has been thrown in contact with studio celebrities whose names alone would be enough to excite the average girl of her age. But these kings and queens of filmdom merely bore her! Occasional offers of small picture parts were promptly spurned.

So by the simple method of climbing a fence Iris achieved freedom. Even if her span of liberty was short the girl is happy at the new vista of life it opened to her.

"I'm going to have a career of my own and it won't be in the movies," she announced with an emphatic bobbing of her head. "I want to make my own way in the world. I liked that place in San Francisco because I love babies. This sort of an existence is all wrong. I'm expected to look pretty, wear nice clothes and in a few years I'd be qualified as a society butterfly, talking idiotic things to idiotic men."

"Some day I will earn my own living and work," this restless outcast of my system.

COOLIDGE POLICIES GET CLEAR TRACK FROM OPPOSITION

Failure To Override Postal Veto Flattens Out Every Shred of Obstruction To Program.

BY MARK SULLIVAN.

Washington, January 12.—What has happened in Washington the past week has been something more than a series of unrelated events. These events are rather the evidences of something like the existence of a new era. How long it will last and what it will be called remains to be seen.

There has been nothing like it since the Roosevelt presidency, and even the Roosevelt administration hardly ever reached the point of dispiriting organized opposition as completely as organized opposition to Coolidge has ebbed away.

Of many evidences that emerged during the past week, one was the petting out of the intention, held chiefly by insurgent republicans and third party men, to overcome Coolidge.

MAY VOTE TUESDAY ON SHOALS BILL

Senate Leaders To Resume Pressure for Deciding Ballot on Underwood Proposal.

Washington, January 11.—The senate will buckle down tomorrow to the task of disposing of the Muscle Shoals power problem not later than Tuesday.

Two main propositions remain before the chamber—the Underwood bill, providing either for the leasing of Muscle Shoals or government operation, and the Jones amendment to re-define the whole problem to a commission which would submit recommendations to congress.

A definite expression of the senate's position between these proposals is hoped for by the leaders before Wednesday to give opportunity for consideration of other pressing legislation. They plan to make another effort to obtain an agreement to fix a time for a vote despite that all such attempts thus far have failed. It is possible that a vote will be reached tomorrow, but the leaders expect that the entire day will be consumed in discussion of the Jones amendment because of its requirement for ratification by congress of the commission's findings before they can become operative.

Managers of both measures expressed confidence tonight that their respective plan would be adopted.

Senate leaders declared they regarded Muscle Shoals as a non-partisan question, and as a result of this attitude, a general splitting up of votes is expected on the final roll call.

WEDDED 70 YEARS

Coolidge Sends Congratulations on Long Happiness.

Plainfield, N. J., January 11.—When President Coolidge heard that Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Buckelew had been married—to each other—for 70 years, he hastened to dispatch a letter of congratulation which the Buckelews are now exhibiting with gleeful pride.

They were married in December, 1854. Buckelew, who is 92 years old, fought in the Union navy during the Civil war.

STATE'S ATTORNEY GIVES APPROVAL TO BRIBE CHARGE

Changing Administrations Do Not Serve to Clog Machinery of Prosecutor's Office.

POLLMAN IS SLATED AS STATE WITNESS

Legislature Which Convenes at Noon May Order Official Probe of "Pardon Sales."

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Topeka, Kan., January 11.—Warrants will be sworn out in the court of Topeka tomorrow charging Governor Jonathan M. Davis and his son, Russell G. Davis, 28, with accepting a bribe of $1,250 in payment for a pardon issued Fred W. Pollman, it was announced late today by Tinkham Veale, county attorney of Shawnee county.

Agreement was reached at a conference of county and state officers this afternoon that charges will be preferred and a warrant served on the governor and his son before the inauguration exercises tomorrow, when Governor Davis yields his chair as executive.

The conference was held in the office of Attorney General C. B. Griffith.

Base Charges on Story.

Accusations will be based, Mr. Veale said, on an alleged payment of $1,250 to the younger Davis by Pollman, convicted forger, who formerly was president of the Linn County bank at LaCygne, Kan.

No charge will be placed against Pollman as his part in the case did not constitute a criminal offense, Veale said. "Pollman turned over the money to the governor's son with the intent of exposing him and the governor and not for the purpose of purchasing his pardon," said the county attorney.

The money was said to have been exchanged last Friday in a Topeka hotel, when Russell delivered a pardon, signed by his father, to Pollman, later returning the money when he was confronted by witnesses who had "listened in" on the transaction by a telephone arrangement.

In conference with County Attorney Veale were his assistant, Ralph H. Gaw, county-elect Paul Heinz and his assistant, Ed Rooney, who assume office tomorrow noon, and Captain W. A. Smith, assistant state's attorney general. During the conference Mr. Veale said the officials were in constant touch with Charles B. Griffith, attorney general, by telephone.

Jury Probe Passed Up.

There was talk of calling a special grand jury, it was said, but no action was taken. Such a grand jury would be limited to investigate affairs within Shawnee county.

Mr. Veale said that the county marshal or sheriff would serve the warrants immediately and that the governor and his son would be given a preliminary hearing and placed under bond. The prosecution would then fall to the new county attorney.

No witnesses were consulted or testimony taken today. The charges were based on accounts of the episode published in the newspapers, but Mr. Veale said that Pollman would return to testify for the state.

Pollman is now in Missouri, he said, and could not be reached to day.

First Step of Inquiry.

The filing of formal charges tomorrow will be the first act toward investigation or prosecution of the case.

TWO GAS STATIONS LOOTED ON SUNDAY

$50 Obtained From Each While Managers Were Held at Bay With Pistols.

Negro bandits held up and robbed two gasoline filling stations late Sunday night, making their escape with $50 from the cash register of each station.

A. B. Haygood, of 183 Oakland avenue, manager of the Wofford Oil company filling station at Houston street and North Boulevard, was the first victim.

Mr. Haygood told detectives he was seated in his office at the filling station when a lone negro, unmasked, entered and forced him to back into a corner at the point of an ugly six-shooter while he rifled the cash register of $50 and escaped.

At 10:30 o'clock—just half an hour later—Johnnie Peel, manager of the Standard Oil company filling station at West Peachtree and Tenth streets, was forced to duplicate the procedure.

This time two unmasked negroes drove into the station in a dilapidated car—vintage of 1910—minus a license tag, and threatened Mr. Peel with instant death, opened the cash register for a $50 haul and escaped.

Detectives are working on the theory that the same negroes are responsible for both hold-ups and that one of them remained in hiding during the robbery of the Wofford filling station.

Rev. Sheatsley Urges Flock To Patiently Await Report On Furnace Mystery Probe

Plea Is Pastor's Answer to Many Demands for Some Reference by Him to Tragedy.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Columbus, Ohio, January 11.—Anonymous letters, purporting to have been written by members of his congregation, today caused Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, pastor of Christ Lutheran church, to discuss before his congregation the mysterious cremation of his wife in the furnace of the parsonage on November 17.

It was the first time the pastor had mentioned the tragedy since resuming his pulpit.

"Several anonymous letters, purporting to have been written by members of my congregation," the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley declared, "have asked why we have not mentioned the tragedy that took place in our home."

Colleague Urges Silence.

This statement brought Rev. Edward Pfeiffer, professor at Capital University, where the Rev. Mr. Sheatsley is professor of religion, to his feet with an appeal for the pastor to discontinue his remarks.

"This congregation has gone on record as expressing absolute confidence in the innocence of our pastor and of every member of his family. I, personally, was dissatisfied with difficulty from offering a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the conviction of any person or persons guilty in this affair. What do the people want? Did our resolution hold no weight?" Dr. Pfeiffer declared.

Columbus newspapers have printed a number of letters bearing on the Sheatsley furnace mystery, many of them denouncing the pastor and members of his family for not offering a reward for a solution to the mystery. It was publication of these letters, and others written directly to the pastor, that caused him to discuss the matter before his congregation.

Ask for Patience.

The Rev. Mr. Sheatsley stood silently, and with bowed head, while Dr. Pfeiffer made his statement. It is not, the congregation, who has been questioned. I wish to ask my congregation to wait in patience until the right and thorough investigation now being conducted by the regularly constituted authorities is completed and my findings made public, and I wish all of you to rest easy in the confidence that when findings are made public, neither I nor

The gland that causes getting up at night is known as the prostate and is a notorious trouble maker. It is estimated that 65 out of every 100 men past 40, and many under that age, have prostate trouble. If unchecked, often leads to a serious operation. The prostate surrounds the neck of the bladder like a washer. Naturally, when the bladder becomes inflamed by poisons which the kidneys filter out of the blood, the irritation spreads to the prostate. As the gland swells, it closes the neck of the bladder, making urination difficult and painful and causing pains in the back, head and legs.

An easy way to treat these annoying and dangerous conditions is to take one or two renex pills after each meal. The renex formula has been victorious in thousands of such cases. One authority says it also has a valuable tonic effect. Anybody wishing to prove the value of the formula can get a full-size, two-dollar treatment of the pills under a money-back guarantee by sending the attached coupon to the address given therein. If you prefer, you can pay the postman two dollars and postage on delivery, instead of sending the money with your order. In any case, if you report within ten days that you are not entirely satisfied, the purchase price will be refunded at once, upon request. Found Body in Furnace.

Mrs. Addie Sheatsley's body was found in the furnace of the parsonage late in the afternoon of November 17, when the minister returned from his investigations before a grand jury.

A coroner made a preliminary investigation and expressed belief that the woman was a suicide. Prosecutor King, however, was not satisfied with the decision and began an investigation which lasted for several days. Failure to uncover any new information finally led him to accept the coroner's official suicide verdict.

Prosecutor King would not discuss the evidence alleged to have been presented to the grand jury.

POPULAR PLAY TO BE SPONSORED BY MACCABEES

"Brother Maccabees," a popular play by Larry E. Johnson, well-known American playwright, will be presented at Atlanta and other points in north Georgia during the latter part of January by the Stewart-Hale players, it was learned here Saturday.

The play is a story of romance in three acts, with an elaborate setting and a group of experienced players in each role, it is said.

The play will be presented at the Atlanta theater for three nights, at East Point one night and will play one night in Milledgeville, Manassas, Dalton and other north Georgia cities, according to present plans. Maccabee tents in each of the cities where the play will be shown will be in charge of presentations.

Members of the cast include Miss Welma Webb, Ena Durham, Betty Love, Margaret Lacey, Elizabeth Wheeler, Katherine King, Helen Carter, Helen Hight, Catherine Anglin and Walter Carlton, Freda Wallace, L. W. Phillips, Raymond Cheek, Milton Ferdis and Morgan Blake.

J. C. Anderson is advertising and public director; Hal Butts, company manager; Frank McMeekin, business manager; R. L. Cheek, stage manager; and Julian Lett, door manager. George C. Chancellor will have charge of the directing.

Democratic Party Is Staunch And Seaworthy, Says Senator

EDITOR'S NOTE—In a recent series of articles written for the United News, Senator Bruce of Maryland, analyzing the condition of the democratic party from the conservative point of view, Senator King of Utah, one of the progressive wing democrats, has undertaken to answer the criticisms of the party and to show the party's strength.

BY WILLIAM H. KING.

United States Senator from Utah. (Copyright, 1925, by United News.)

Washington, January 11.—There are some misguided Americans who believe that the principles of Jefferson are obsolete and that the democratic party, which has been the political philosophy of the nation since the time of its founding, is in the last stages of dissolution. The foes of liberty and real democracy have been able to exploit the theories and principles which have been embodied in the political conduct of the democratic party, and the approval of archaic, imperialistic and reactionary policies which have so largely been followed by the republican party.

The fact is that millions of those who voted the republican ticket in the last two national elections, do not understand what the republican party represents. That party, by its subtle representations, its corrupting propaganda and sophistical intrigues, has secured the support of a large number of voters whose views are the antithesis of republicanism and whose ideals are the opposite of the liberal and democratic principles of the republican party.

G. O. P. Opposes Progress.

The republican party, particularly since the death of President Grant, has been the opponent of progressive policies, and responsive to the aspirations of the liberal forces of the country. It has sought guidance from the past, and direction at the hands of reactionary leaders, and those who believe that any change is destructive, that the people were made for the state and whose chief concern has been to perpetuate old conditions and protect property, regardless of personal rights.

The democratic party has been and still is the liberal and progressive party of our country. Most of the political reforms and the adoption of industrial and social programs which have ameliorated the condition of the people and increased individual liberty, have been the work, directly or indirectly, of the democratic party. It brought about the passage of the powerful machine which it maintains its control of the press, and the party of great wealth, which is its powerful ally, has been able to maintain its power during the greater part of the past sixty years.

Sees Growth of Reaction.

There is more reason for the existence of the democratic party now than at any time during the past half century. The support of the liberal forces of our country are powerfully marshaled under the banner of the republican party. That party, flushed with victory, feels secure in its fortresses, and seeks greater rigor to destroy liberal thought and democratic ideals and superimpose upon the people a more powerful and despotic federal and bureaucratic government.

Those who are patriotic and who love liberty and who desire the preservation of our republic, will feel called to ally themselves with the democratic party, because they must see that only through that party can the liberty of the people be preserved and the rights of the states maintained.

Local scout organizations are preparing for observance Tuesday of "Boy Scout Appreciation Day" with the largest meeting in the history of the local scout council. The meeting, which will be held at the Biltmore hotel, will be the largest of the kind ever held in the city. It will be held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Biltmore hotel, and will continue all day, concluding with a banquet at night.

A feature of the day's program will be a scout parade, participated in by all local civic organizations. In the afternoon, the parade will be conducted at the auditorium, where demonstrations will be held.

West and Sutton Speak.

"The National Scope of Scouting" will be the subject of an address by Executive West, while Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, will follow him with an address on "Fundamentals of the Boy Scout Program."

Windows of homes where scouts live were decorated Saturday with bunting and streamers. A special room in the Biltmore hotel has been reserved for scout officials to display scout photographs, and a collection of postage stamps has been received here for display in the hotel.

In accordance with his custom, Executive West will limit his time here to permit. Troop 11 has been designated by officials to be an honorary escort for Mr. West and Mr. Wyland.

should not be reported on favorably by the committee and passed by council," said Mr. White Sunday night. "It is both a feasible and constructive piece of legislation and should be passed without a single bit of opposition. As far as I know there has been no opposition voiced, and I believe the paper will be adopted."

Councilman White announced that any organization or individual interested in the ordinance would be welcomed at the committee meeting.

Macon Will Act.

That the Constitution's fight to abolish the pistol has had far-reaching effects is indicated in dispatches from Macon, Ga., Sunday night, telling of the announcement of Alderman S. L. Orr, chairman of the police committee of city council, that he intends to introduce an ordinance in city council Tuesday night to curtail use of pistols in that city.

Already ministers, city and county officials, members of the general assembly and virtually every organization interested in law enforcement have rallied themselves with the Constitution, in branding the pistol as the deadliest menace to humanity, and pledged their support in the fight to outlaw the practice of "hot" pistol.

Governor's Indorsement.

Saturday Governor Walker added his indorsement, both personal and official, to the thousands of others which have been received by the Constitution since its inauguration of its campaign. Coincident with the governor's message came pledges of support and commendation from other quarters in Atlanta Saturday.

Rev. Charles M. Meeks, pastor of the Park Street Methodist church, informed The Constitution that the Men's club of his pastorate had adopted resolutions indorsing the campaign and volunteered services of the organization in "outlawing this common enemy of human safety, happiness and life."

The fight to abolish pistol "hot" has reached all sections of the state, evidence of which is given in hundreds of communications to The Constitution from legislators, ministers, state, county and city officials, civic and religious organizations and thousands of individuals commending its efforts.

Used Pistol Only Once In Making Arrests In 17 Years' Service

Americus, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—Judge E. Bragg, chief of police of Americus, completed 17 years as a member of the force here this week. During the past year he has been head of the department, and eight years previously he was second in command, having served only three years as a patrolman.

Since then he has been in the part of the business, but had devoted his time to his family, to travel and to the social enjoyment of his wide circle of friends.

WOMEN TO STUDY CAUSES OF WARS

Washington, January 11.—International peace and the causes of wars and their possible elimination will be systematically studied, it was announced here tonight by representatives of nine national women's organizations, who will assemble in Washington next week for the conference on the causes and cure of wars.

President Coolidge will receive the 900 delegates, it was announced by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, general organizing chairman, on January 19, the opening day of the conference. Speakers of note are on the program for the sessions, which will continue through January 24.

Journalism will occupy a prominent place on the program, with Bruce Bliven, editor of the New Republic, and a former managing editor of the New York Globe, discussing propaganda as a military weapon.

The list of speakers includes Rabbi Stephen Wise, New York; Professor Lindsay Rogers, of Columbia university; Dr. Samuel I. Inman, author and lecturer; George W. Wickersham, former attorney general; Major General John P. O'Hara; Major General Henry T. Allen, commander of American troops in Germany; and Professor James T. Shotwell.

Organizations calling the conference are the American Association of University Women; National League of Women Voters; General Federation of Women's Clubs; National Council of Jewish Women; National Board of the Young Women's Christian Association; National Women's Trade Union League; National Women's Christian Temperance Union; and the Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions of North America.

ing the barricaded approaches to the settlements tonight.

Chi Hsieh-Yuan was military governor of Kiangsu province, in which Shanghai is situated, and a Peking mandate was issued December 12 dismissing him from that position and appointing Lu Yung-Hsiang, "special commissioner" for Kiangsu and Anhwei provinces. Sun Chuan-fang was an adherent of General Wu Peifu, the ousted commander of the Peking military forces. Both Chi and Sun were active in besieging Shanghai last fall.

At that time, they were allied with the Peking regime of President Tsao K'un. Lu Yung-Hsiang, defending Shanghai, was defeated and fled to Nagasaki, Japan, but returned to China after his political friends had come into power.

OPPOSITION FORCE SURROUNDED BY CHI.

Shanghai, Jan. 11.—War has broken out again in China.

Dispatches received here from Shanghai say that Chi Hsieh-Yuan, former military governor, unexpectedly occupied the Chinese city Sunday, without the firing of a shot. Chi was believed to be a virtual refugee until his dramatic appearance at the "Sies" of the native settlement.

The entire opposition force, consisting of three divisions in barracks, was surrounded by Chi's forces.

Fighting has begun at Lungchow, five miles from Shanghai, according to a Central News dispatch. Thousands of refugees are flocking to the foreign quarter, which is barricaded, and so far well out of the fighting line. There is anxiety among foreign residents.

Chi probably will regain his governorship, which means that most of the late war must be fought all over again.

Vaccinations Help Reduce All Diseases In Sumter County

Americus, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—A total of 17,080 complete anti-typhoid vaccinations, comprising 5,124 doses of serum, were administered to Sumter county residents by public health workers here during 1924, according to statistics contained in the annual report of Dr. J. W. Payne, county health commissioner.

In addition to this work, Dr. Payne and Mrs. Herschel Argo, his assistant, examined 2,453 school children attending various schools throughout the county, finding 1,214 among these defective in certain physical traits.

As a result of the vaccinations, it is declared, typhoid has been practically stamped out in the county, and preventable diseases among children have been largely decreased.

Neil A. Ray, Rev. E. T. Moore and Dr. J. W. Chambliss constitute Sumter's county health board.

Upshaw Proposes Resolution To Debar Drinking Solons From Capitol at Washington

Calls Upon Coolidge To Issue Proclamation, Asking All Officials To Abstain From Drink.

Washington, January 11.—(Special.)—Congressmen who drink should be debarred from "further fellowship with their sober colleagues," Representative Upshaw, of Georgia, declared in a statement issued here, in which he also called upon the president to issue a proclamation "calling not only on official Washington, but official America to personally abstain from outlandish intoxicants."

Upshaw is considering introduction of a resolution in the house which would out drinking congressmen from the capital, and debar them from participation in legislation. As yet, he has taken no action along this line. "Lawmakers should not be lawbreakers, and it seems that there is only one course left to the vast majority of congressmen whose reputation as a body is besmirched by such lurid devilment on the part of the few—and that is to shut them from further fellowship with their sober colleagues," the statement said.

Should Protect Itself.

"With congress overwhelmingly dry in practice as well as in principle, it is not reasonable to expect it to protect itself from such shameful aspersions upon its good name. A morbid public seems to forget, in its whole indictment of the people's representatives, that it has heard nothing of the 'ninety and nine' who have never zone astray."

Reaching his college of two years ago calling upon congressmen, senators, judges and cabinet officers, led by the president and vice president, to abstain from the use of liquor, Upshaw said, "that challenge still stands."

"Whatever a man's predilections in opinion or in practice before the enactment of our prohibition law, if he is honest and square with his oath and his flag, he should refuse now to touch the poison stuff which has been outlawed by due governmental process," Upshaw said.

Wants Coolidge To Lead.

"I have great admiration for our worthy president, but I wish he would kick off in this necessary crusade against the moral forces of the country by issuing a proclamation, calling not only on official Washington, but official America, to personally abstain from outlandish intoxicants, it would be a moral tonic to the nation and to the world."

"But congress? I come to the defense of my colleagues. I charge that it is an ordinary 19-20. Plans for a great company of sober, God-fearing men like the overwhelming majority of congress to have their reputation blemished as a body by sensational publications about a few 'high rolling' members."

No Laughing Matter.

"This is no laughing matter. The soul of America is at stake. 'And if these few festive drinking law-makers do not quit being law-breakers, thus embarrassing their sober, patriotic colleagues and outraging the ideals of American youth, mark my words—congress will take speedy, consistent action and shut them into outer darkness.'"

"We who are standing for strict enforcement of our prohibition law through the leadership of sober officials are simply fighting for the soul of the nation, and when I am told that my demand is radical and extreme, I answer that I am just as sincere as the righteous region exalteth a nation, and just as conservative as the constitution of my country."

LAURENS B. Y. P. U. WILL ENTERTAIN REGIONAL MEET

Dublin, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—Dublin B. Y. P. U. organizations will entertain the central eastern regional B. Y. P. U. conference of Georgia on Saturday 19-20. Plans are ready are being prepared for taking care of the 300 delegates expected at this meeting.

The first Baptist church will be the central meeting place of the convention, although the several organizations making up the B. Y. P. U. will aid in entertaining the visitors.

A program has not yet been announced, but is in process of being arranged. W. P. Blanchard, of Augusta, is president of the convention, and Robert E. Connelly, of Atlanta, is secretary.

Dublin and Laurens county members of the B. Y. P. U. are busy preparing for the coming meeting.

Early Church-Goers Thrown Into Panic by Snapping Puppy

BY BILL MAHONEY.
Doggone!
And he is quite gone!
But in his wake is a trail of terror, agony and misgivings!
Yelping and yodling up and down the residential section of Peachtree Sunday morning, a long-haired, long-eared, black and gray setter puppy expressed his disapproval of the world in general—and Atlanta people in particular—by snapping right and left at the daintily shod feet of early churchgoers.
Hurry calls of "mad dog" sent police call cars scurrying in every direction.
But Sir Pup was not to be caught napping. With the strategy of a veteran, he changed the seat of activity as rapidly as victims sent out their plaintive wails for help.
Little Alvin B. Cates, Jr., was the first reported victim of the infuriated pup. The dog snapped viciously at his leg as he left for Sunday school from his home at 624 West Peachtree.

Immediately switching his battle sector to the corner of Peachtree and Twelfth streets, the dog attacked and bit a man who gave police the name of Bodenheimer.
With almost super-canine foresight, the pup concluded that further stay in that vicinity might prove suicidal.
He was next found intruding upon the privacy of a young couple who, ignorant of their danger, awaited street car on the corner of Peachtree and Peachtree place.
When search for the little brute became more determined, as the number of victims multiplied, he disappeared as completely as a cloud of smoke ascending into heaven.
He left neither trace nor traces.
The more cautious of the victims are being treated for possible infection.
Hot dog!

Constitution Doll Will Take Baby Role in Comedy

Lyric Players plan to improve on the original production of the farce comedy, "Their First Baby," by using a real baby during the presentation this week, instead of a doll as was used in New York, seemingly had run into an unexpected and insurmountable barrier Sunday afternoon at the first rehearsal in which the use of an infant was attempted.
Mrs. A. E. March, mother of Walter Franklin March, the child picked from among 16 applicants for the part who answered a "Help Wanted" ad in the Constitution, and Will Lloyd, Lyric player who is to take the part of the baby's kidnaper in the comedy, were jointly responsible.
The result was that the baby was withdrawn from the cast in the middle of the rehearsal of the first act and a "Little Miss Georgia" doll, a gift from The Constitution to Miss Edith Luckett, the leading woman, was used in its stead.

Doll to Take Part.
Unless Mr. Lloyd recovers from the extreme case of nerves he suffered at the critical moment in the first act when he attempted to leap through a window with the real baby under his coat, "Little Miss Georgia" will continue to play the part of "their first baby" and the production will be given here exactly as it was given in New York last summer.

The rehearsal, held especially to accustom the players to working with a real baby instead of the doll which usually takes the part of a baby in any comedy, began smoothly enough. Then came the crucial episode in the first act when Will Lloyd and Jack Holden, rush in to kidnap the infant as a practical joke on its doing father. They know that the door is being watched and that if they appear on the street at all with a baby in evidence there will be trouble. The only way out is for Lloyd to conceal the infant under his coat and plunge through an open window.

Meets His Waterloo.
When Lloyd tried to hide the baby under his coat for his dash to the window, he met his Waterloo as an actor. He started to run to the window and then paused to change his hold on the child. He reached the window to make the jump and then halted again.

By this time the mother had decided she was taking too big a risk in entrusting her baby to the uncertain grip of the actor. She took the child from his arms and announced that the play was over as far as her infant was concerned.

Miss Luckett ran to her dressing room and returned with her little Miss Georgia doll.

The rehearsal was completed with "Little Miss Georgia" in the title role. Late Sunday night Mr. Lloyd told a Constitution reporter that he was still firm in his determination not to risk another near-tragedy with a real baby.
The "Little Miss Georgia" doll, which is probably the only one of the few dolls The Constitution had left over from the Christmas offer.

Oh, just like it is still available at the city circulation department, either on payment of $4.95 or as a prize to anyone who secures a small number of acceptable subscriptions to The Constitution under a plan that will be explained upon call at the city circulation department. The doll is of a quality that retails around $15. It walks, rolls its eyes, has real hair and is just about as near to being a real baby as a doll can be.

LYNWOOD FARNAM RECITAL WILL BE FREE TO PUBLIC

Patrons of the Georgia chapter of the American Guild of Organists, which is sponsoring appearance here on January 22 of Lynwood Farnam, noted organist, are asked to send their contributions of from $1 to $10 each to defray the expenses of the recital to Miss Edna Barthelme, 59 Penn. avenue, or to Grace Chambers Thompson, St. Philip's cathedral, if was announced Sunday by Miss Thompson, publicity chairman of the guild.
The recital will be absolutely free to the public and the guild is depending entirely on Atlanta's music loving public in financing the concert by subscriptions sent in advance. The patron list has not yet been completed. It was.

Bremen Elects Officers.
Bremen, Ga., January 11.—(Special.) In a caucus held here Tuesday, J. J. Manahan was elected mayor over W. C. Gray, by 67 votes; G. L. Lovorn, J. S. Miller, C. P. Walker and W. E. McCricken, councilmen, and W. L. Long, member of board of education.

$50,000 VOTED TO PAY BALANCE ON VIADUCT

Recommendations that the city pay approximately $50,000, due in unpaid balances for work done in connection with construction of the Spring street viaduct, were voted Saturday by the 1925 bridge committee of city council, in joint session with the viaduct committee of the bond commission. This money, according to recommendations, would be taken from current revenues, and the committee will ask that that amount be placed on the finance sheet. Of the total of $50,486.08 due, the city owes $24,394.75 to the Nichols Construction company; $18,022.01 to the Beck and Gregg Hardware company; $7,241.32 to the viaduct committee, and a number of small amounts.
Council last year voted to pay the total amount, but no appropriation had been made, and the formality of another similar recommendation had to be gone through with this year.
The total sum represents the amount spent on the Spring street viaduct and projects in connection with it, in addition to the bond issue. A bond issue of $750,000 was voted for construction of the viaduct, but $25,000 worth of bonds expired before they could be sold. In addition to the viaduct proper, projects completed with the money include widening and extension of Fairlee street across the tracks, an eight-story annex to the Beck and Gregg building, Hunter street approach, and Barlow street paving.

DR. J. H. SIMPSON DIES AT HOME IN MARIETTA

Dr. John H. Simpson, 77, died at his residence, 207 Powder Mill street, Marietta, Ga., Sunday. He is survived by his widow; daughter, Miss Alice Mae Simpson; son, W. E. Simpson; sisters, Mrs. B. Sullivan and Mrs. M. C. Catlett, both of Anderson, S. C.; and brother, E. R. Simpson, of Van Buren, Ark.
Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at his residence. Rev. J. H. Patton will officiate. Interment in Marietta city cemetery. Black Undertaking company in charge.

STEINER UNIT ROW ENDS IN HARMONY

Steadley as director of the Steiner ward. But this was declared to be entirely incidental by Mr. Hirsch, who said that abolition of the office of directorship of the ward was at first interpreted by him to mean that the general staff wished to have entire control of admission of patients for cancer cure.

WILL RECEIVE PATIENTS THROUGH THREE SOURCES.
During the meeting held Sunday night, it was agreed that diagnosis and admission of patients would come through all three sources—the colored and white wards of Grady and the Steiner unit.
Mr. Hirsch declared that it was never his intention to cast any aspersions upon the integrity and honor of the doctors making up the general staff and said that he wished the "public to understand" that the Steiner ward would function henceforth, without any further interference from the trustees and doctors making up the general staff.

Mayor Sims and Superintendent Steve Johnson were jubilant over the agreement reached at the meeting and declared that "everything now was lovely."
Dr. Frank Eskridge, president of the medical staff of Grady hospital, said that the charges which had been recently by the medical profession of Atlanta had been explained by Mr. Hirsch, and that in the future harmony between trustees and staff would reign.

ABOLITION OF STEADLEY OFFICE DOES NOT FIGURE.
Abolition of Dr. Steadley's office did not figure in the agreement according to all attending members of the love feast.

Mr. Hirsch declared, however, that the Steiner ward would be operated as a unit, and not as a ward of Grady hospital. Under the will, he asserted, the Steiner ward would be administered to a clinic and not a ward.

DR. ESKRIDGE GRATIFIED OVER UNDERSTANDING.
Dr. Eskridge, president of the medical staff of Grady hospital, white unit, gave the following statement to The Constitution Sunday night:

"I am highly gratified that the situation has reached an amicable understanding with the explanation of Mr. Hirsch that statements attributed to him that 'pretty well existed in the hospital were ambiguous.' They were, according to Mr. Hirsch, interpreted incorrectly, and the action he has taken in clarifying them to the medical profession of the city, has already wrought much good in the continued operation of the Steiner ward."

"The Steiner ward will be operated in the future, under the agreement, as an individual unit. We are all happy that the unfortunate situation finally is cleared and foresee wonderful results for the medical profession of the city is beyond criticism of its honor, and it is most opportune under the circumstances that the 'ambiguity' has been erased."

BEST INTERESTS SERVED UNDER NEW AGREEMENT.

Dr. J. L. Campbell, president Grady hospital staff, colored unit, chairman of the Cancer Commission of the Medical Association of Georgia, and southern representative of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, made the following statement to The Constitution:

"Under the present arrangement, the best interest of the profession and the public is general will be served by the Steiner unit. It will develop into an educational center which will be permanently established. The literature compiled from the observations may be spread to the profession of the surrounding country and greatly reduce the present enormous death rate of cancer."

ARREST GOVERNOR AND SON TODAY

governor or his son since Friday's exposure of the alleged pardon sale.
Friday afternoon young Davis, according to his own story yesterday, took the money to his room in the executive mansion and returned to the hotel where his father declared he had already decided to sign. Confronted there by Pollman and a group of newspapermen and officials of the state and federal government, he handed back the money, went back to his home and related the affair to his father.
Both Governor Davis and Russell, in formal statements to the press, have asserted that the elder Davis knew nothing whatever of the alleged illicit transaction until told of it by his son at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening. Russell declared last night that he regretted, for his parents' sake, letting himself "be caught in a trap," but emphasized that his father was not involved.

Governor Charges Frameup.
The governor, too, professed innocence and lamented that Pollman and "political enemies" had taken advantage of friendship and the "unsubstantiated nature of my son" to inveigle him into accepting money for a pardon.
That Governor Davis, too, will be named in the warrants to be sworn out indicates that the law officers will bring out the charges made by Pollman that he had made agreements with the governor that "the boy" should be "hired" to deliver the pardon.

While talk continued among the solons here for the legislative opening this week, no proposal for a legislative investigation of the pardon records has been made openly.
James W. Finley, Chanute, who is chairman of the committee appointed to investigate government departments, said his committee would take no cognizance of the charges inasmuch as it is relieved of its duties tomorrow noon.

COOLIDGE POLICIES GET CLEAR TRACK

idge's opposition to a special session of congress after March 4.
Practically all who held that intention threw up their hands, described themselves, somewhat irridically as tired; said that opposition to Coolidge was no use, and declared there is nothing to do except wait for something to turn up to change the country's present satisfaction with Coolidge's ideas and his program.

La Follette's friends announced he would go to Florida for a rest, and most of the others fell into a similar listlessness. With their spirits of contentment evaporated, the senate passed appropriation bills at the rate of one in less than two hours.
We now know that, barring some contingency now unforeseen and practically impossible, congress will wind up its work March 4. And there will be no session of congress until until and if the president thinks there should be one. The situation will be wholly in his control.

Democrats Wait for Issue.
As for the Democrats, they have come, through a good deal of turmoil, to a status, now understood among themselves, of waiting for the present era to end; for new conditions and new issues to create a demand for organized opposition to the Coolidge and the republicans. Many of the democratic leaders came to that conclusion immediately after the election, but when the senate met in December, there arose what was an opening for democratic opportunity. From some republican senators came an initiative toward passing a bill over President Coolidge's veto a bill appropriating $100,000 for an increase in the pay of postal workers, which Coolidge had disapproved on grounds of economy. It was apparent to the democratic leaders that if the republicans should do this; if they should repudiate their president and his policy of economy, after that president and that policy had been the winning issue in the election, it would constitute opportunity for the democrats justly to denounce the republicans for lack of going the other way. Seeing this, the democrats became active. The bill was not passed over the president's veto, however.

Walt Trend of Times.
And it is now again, and this time more securely, the settled policy of the democrats to wait until the trend of the times, economic or not, shall create the opportunity for vigorous and justified opposition to the president and the party in power.

During this period of waiting, the democrats, internally, are not hopelessly organized. The recommitments that have taken place publicly between democratic senators and the evidence, partly of momentary chagrin over the election of last fall, partly of the lack of a program for the future, partly of the lack of accepted leadership, and partly of a deep inward cleavage. As the democrats, however, the democrats, and all the factions of the party, are now more or less agreed on the course best adapted to arrive ultimately at escape from it.
During December, from two of the democratic factions, there were steps looking to separate factional conferences, of which the common purpose was to make war on each other. Those plans are now dropped. The counsel that prevailed was "part of the broad program of waiting. It was said that any conference held now would be sure to crystallize in lines of the past, which are lines of cleavage. By waiting until events bring some kind of disappointment with the republicans, and create a demand for opposition to that party, the democrats will attain the best hope for unity and success."

Radicalism Ellipsed.
Equally definite with this is the eclipse of all that can be called, by the stretch, radicalism. Twice in the debate on Muscle Shoals, the senate has gone on record by a strong majority against government operation. The contrast between government operation and private operation was put specifically before the senate on one occasion, and indirectly on another. On both occasions there were roll calls, and on both roll calls, government operation was voted down.

The final disposition of Muscle Shoals is still distant from being determined. It may be that the sheer passage of time will cause it to be turned over to a commission to solicit bids from private lessees, and to report later. But it is clearly settled that this senate will not decide for government operation of it. It has been the defeat of government operation of Muscle Shoals, as much as anything else, that caused the insurgent republicans and third party senators to be in a mood of throwing up their hands and saying "What's the use?"

$15.00 Doll for $4.95

When the "Little Miss Georgia" doll Christmas season offer of The Atlanta Constitution closed, it was found that there were a few of these magnificent dolls left on hand. Rather than carry them over to another season, Constitution subscribers can obtain them while the supply lasts at $4.95, which is considerably less than cost.

"Little Miss Georgia" doll walks, talks, sleeps, winks, blinks, rolls her eyes, and does everything else that the premier doll of all time would be expected to do. She is non-breakable, elaborately outfitted; has real hair and is over 24 inches tall.

This doll has readily sold at retail throughout the country at from $12.50 to $15.00 each.

Atlanta and suburban Constitution subscribers and their friends can obtain the dolls at the city circulation department, second floor, Constitution building. Out-of-town orders filled by mail in first and second zone at same price, but beyond second zone $25 should be added up to fourth zone and beyond that 50c additional.

This will be a splendid New Year's gift to some little girl.

Kellogg's Choice Welcomed In Europe as Happy Augury Of Understanding Troubles

Significance of His Appointment by President Coolidge Eagerly Sought in Every Chancellory.

BY JOHN O'BRIEN.

Paris, January 11.—Europe welcomes the appointment to the state department of Frank B. Kellogg as an augury of favorable and sympathetic understanding of Europe's troubles by the United States.

There is no effort to conceal the gratification among European diplomats that an American who participated in the battles of the London conference to effectuate the Dawes plan, who has served his time at a major old world court, and who is rounding off his experience by sitting in on the present allied finance ministers' conference, is to administer the United States foreign policy.

Among some European statesmen, Kellogg's elevation is interpreted as meaning that President Coolidge is about to become his own foreign secretary, or at least to assume a far more personal direction of foreign affairs than has been the case with Charles E. Hughes holding the state department portfolio.

Kellogg Accepts Post.

In a short statement, Kellogg modestly acknowledged his new honors Sunday.

"Of course, I deeply appreciate the great honor the president has conferred upon me by offering me this post and the confidence he has reposed in me," Mr. Kellogg said.

"I also recognize the great responsibility of the position, especially in view of the fact that I follow a great lawyer and statesman, Secretary Hughes."

That was all the ambassador had to say about his sudden elevation, and having said it, he resumed his part in the conference, as though nothing had happened. He sat through Sunday morning in an office in the Quai d'Orsay with several experts, working on drafts of the various settlements which have been reached.

Significance Is Sought.

In every European chancellory, efforts are being made to discover the significance of the Kellogg appointment. The impression in Paris, and through Europe generally, is that Kellogg has been favorable to the league of nations with reservations, but none goes so far as to believe that the United States is contemplating joining the league.

What will become of Coolidge's disavowal of the plan the diplomats are asking themselves, each other and whoever else they think may know. The first Washington disavowal was pretty much a "yes" and "no" answer, and the second, around whether or not Coolidge relinquished his intention to summon a second conference when he relinquished the services of his secretary of state.

Recognize Soviet Union?

There are efforts to read into Kellogg's appointment a hint that the United States will recognize the Soviet union, the diplomats are saying, and they make these efforts, the attitude of Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, who favors recognition.

With his appointment to the highest cabinet position, Kellogg has suddenly become the most interesting figure at the conference. Europe is convinced that American co-operation with Europe will be at least as close as ever, whether or not the foreign

DAVIS STREET SCHOOL LEADS IN ATTENDANCE

Davis Street school, with a percentage of 96.3, led Atlanta schools in attendance for the week ending January 10. It was announced Saturday by M. E. Coleman, director of census and attendance.

Adair school, with 96.2 per cent, was second, and was followed by Stewart Avenue school with 95.8 per cent, while Forrest Avenue and John B. Gordon schools were tied for fourth place with 95.5 per cent.

Attendance figures were lower than usual, authorities stated, due to the fact that last week was the first after the Christmas holidays, and the students had not yet become settled to their work.

to provide for an annual percentage of the Dawes annuities, the value of which is less than the original figure demanded by the American.

Again information is volunteered that the United States will receive no interest on the capital amount of her claims except on arrears as between May, 1925, the date of the Wadsworth agreement, and the beginning of the payments to the United States under the Dawes plan.

The American delegation, when requested to confirm or deny these details emanating from British sources, remarked that the entire matter was up to Washington. The delegates in Paris, they added, were bound to keep the character of the solutions a secret until they had been approved by Washington.

A direct query as to whether the United States received anything in return for these concessions also failed to bring a reply other than "reference to Washington."

The British attack the greatest importance to the agreement which brings the United States officially into the reparations pool, with the right to a percentage, like the allies.

The Rumanians, in spite of the pledge of secrecy, made no secret of their disappointment over the direction of the conference, and Rumania's claims for an increase of her one per cent fixed at Spa he held over for further discussion.

Belgian Share Not Cut.

Belgium will receive the 8 per cent reparations payments during the first Dawes year and possibly during the second, if necessary, to extinguish her priority. The exact amount due Belgium has not been ascertained, but the experts are at work on the figures.

"Is it true that you are abandoning 3 per cent of your Spa percentage after that time?" Premier Theunis was asked.

"Belgium had a great friend in Mr. Hughes," replied the Belgian prime minister, somewhat irrelevantly. "But if his departure has been definitely decided upon, we could not wish for a better friend of Belgium to take charge of the foreign affairs of the United States than Mr. Kellogg."

The French delegation appeared satisfied when it was found, according to the work of the experts, that it concluded, that after deducting all payments enjoying priority from the sums Germany must pay under the Dawes plan, France would receive the first three or four years of the annuities would be equivalent to about 500,000,000 gold marks.

Seeks Trouble For Herriot.

It is rumored by one of the opposition organs, however, that "France is an article which is beginning to be eaten leaf by leaf."

Premier Herriot is likely to meet considerable difficulty, also, according to the opposition, in obtaining ratification of the conference's protocol by parliament.

Dr. Souza Rantano, the Brazilian ambassador to France, has been by the experts committee today relative to the German ships sequestered in Brazilian ports. This is interpreted as meaning that the status of the German tonnage possessed by the American government and now operated by the United States, is being discussed.

Viscount Ishii of Japan, also appeared before the experts and asked for reimbursement to the amount of 32,000,000 gold marks spent by Japan in Shanghai.

The Japanese in 1922 restored to China the territory of Kiao-Chau, in Shanghai, which had been seized by the Japanese during the World War. This territory was at that time held by the Germans.

president the able protection of Hughes and to leave the white house more exposed to the fire of the expert, two-gun marksmen than the outside stations when suddenly she heard the low voice of a girl who said she believed her name to be Charlotte and who said she was broadcasting an appeal to relatives and friends in an effort to determine her identity.

Then the voice trailed off to nothing, and an announcer said that the young woman, broadcasting from Chicago, was unable to continue her appeal.

Fails to Recognize Voice.

Startled by the voice she believed she recognized, Mrs. Griffiths next morning read newspaper accounts of the broadcasting of the mystery girl.

The young woman, however, apparently failed to recognize her aunt's voice.

Well Fixed Financially.

Hughes seems to be in excellent health, he loved the work, and he paid an income tax last year which indicated that he was in a comfortable financial situation.

Further, Hughes was in perfect accord with the president on every important policy, so far as has been apparent. Though he was a towering figure in the administration, he always sought a subordinate kind of work.

Considering how valuable Hughes would have been to the president in a second arms conference, the capital is at a loss to explain why it should come to suddenly.

So far as his influence will count in shaping foreign policy, it will be cast against recognition of Russia, in favor of the world court, and of close cooperation with Europe without becoming entangled politically. Though he once was sympathetic to the League of Nations, he was swinging around as Hughes did—to a belief in unofficial cooperation rather than direct participation.

Conservative England Faces League Issue

BY JAMES T. SHOTWELL

Who With General Tasker Bliss Defined "Aggressive War" in the Geneva Protocol.

British action in Egypt and her shelving of the Geneva protocol has caused wide speculation as to the future of the League of Nations. Professor Shotwell has written an article in this issue, which explains England's recent action.

In this country much has been said lately about the League of Nations. The temporary shelving, at her request, of the Geneva protocol was taken to mean that England would go no further than she had already gone in the covenant. And in her subsequent refusal to allow the league a hand in the settling of the Egyptian conflict, only a typically British way of hitting that even the covenant might be going too far for her taste.

These incidents, especially when coming further than she had already gone in the Geneva protocol, have seemed to indicate a sort of belated British parallel to American policy—a beginning of aloofness and of opposition to the implications of membership in the League of Nations.

This is an entirely misleading conclusion. The press of Great Britain, which almost invariably editorializes in favor of the league, and the conservative party, which is not only not a labor party and the liberals have made the league the center of their whole foreign policy, but that most of the conservative party is favorable to the league as well. No one in any country has written a more stirring call for co-operation with the league than the chancellor of the exchequer, Mr. Winston Churchill.

The American delegation, when requested to confirm or deny these details emanating from British sources, remarked that the entire matter was up to Washington. The delegates in Paris, they added, were bound to keep the character of the solutions a secret until they had been approved by Washington.

A direct query as to whether the United States received anything in return for these concessions also failed to bring a reply other than "reference to Washington."

THE DARK STARS OF THE MOVIES

The dark stars of the movie industry—who are they? They are the directors; the brains of the great game, men whose artistic touch makes the masterpieces of the screen possible, but whose faces are never shown.

"The Blue Book of the Screen" tells all about these great personages, and no more interesting reading can be found anywhere. "The Blue Book" is regularly priced at $5 per copy, but "The Constitution" is offering it to its readers for only $1 when accompanied by three coupons clipped from this paper.

Look in this issue for an advertisement describing the offer in detail.

SCOUT, 13, AWARDED LIFE-SAVING MEDAL

New York, January 11.—Rex Guinness, 13 years old, of Tower Hill, Ill., has been awarded the Boy Scout gold honor medal for life saving.

It was announced today at headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America.

"The boy, unaided, through skill, courage and sheer grit, succeeded in rescuing two 10-year-old lads from drowning last August in the water at Turkey Run Park, Indiana," says the announcement.

Plenty of Time and Equal Chance in Cross-Figures

"Prosperity" in four figures—The answer is $1,000 first prize in The Constitution's new and original cross-figure contest, in which all cash awards will total $2,570.

Your share of the big prize money is waiting for you. There's no reason why you should not win the $1,000 first prize; there's plenty of time, and everybody has an equal chance.

Only a simple process of addition is involved, but there's enough left to individual ingenuity to make the game extremely interesting.

In this issue of The Constitution will be found a big advertisement describing the cross-figure game in detail. Don't fail to turn to it now; get out the old pencil and get busy.

There may be $1,000 in it for you.

BODY OF MRS. RIDDICK CARRIED TO CULLODEN

Culloden, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—The body of Mrs. E. F. Riddick, who died suddenly at a hospital in Macon, was brought to her home here Saturday afternoon for interment.

Mrs. Riddick went to the hospital Thursday where a tonsil operation was performed. Friday night she was taken suddenly ill and lived only a few hours.

She is survived by her husband and six brothers, William T. Robert, Cape, Clifford, Gordon and Grady Holmes, and one sister, Mrs. Fred Sullivan, all of Culloden.

She was a daughter of the late J. O. Holmes and member of one of the best known families in middle Georgia. Her death was a shock to the family and friends.

Feel Stiff and Achy After Every Cold?

Do You Have Constant Backache? Feel Old and Lame and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

DOES every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you worn-out and utterly miserable? Do you feel old and lame, stiff and rheumatic? Does your back ache with a dull, unceasing throb, until it seems you just can't stand it any longer?

Then look to your kidneys! Grips, colds, and chills are mighty hard on the kidneys. They fill the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys must filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

"Use Doan's," Say These Atlanta Folks:

THOS. H. HUGHES, cabinet maker, 177 Bellwood Ave., says: "My kidneys were ordered and I couldn't rest well at night, for I had to get up on account of the too free action of my kidneys. The secret was in my back and annoying. My back was so weak and lame. Sharp pains shot through my back and I felt badly all over. I began using Doan's Pills. It wasn't long before the trouble left. I have never been bothered since and I believe my cure is permanent."

MRS. S. E. LINDLEY, 199 Cooper St., says: "I suffered with kidney trouble and when I attempted to straighten after stooping, catches held me fast. My back became weak. Mornings I felt lame and stiff across my kidneys. I was greatly troubled with nervousness. I also had dizzy spells and headaches. The sluggishness of my kidneys was the most annoying trouble. I used Doan's Pills and was relieved in every way."

active Kapp revolution appear as nothing in comparison.

Contrasted to these extreme cliques, the average German wants peace and the order that deserted Germany along with the otherwise unalloyed Hohenzollerns. Because Germans do yearn for order, many observers suggest that a monarchist coup at this time, with a promise of a return to the old days when everything was in order, might attract considerable sympathy.

Cabinet Efforts Farcical.

The unending and farcical efforts of the politicians to build a cabinet from the material afforded by the elections in December are fretting Germany. Chancellor Marx having failed, Finance Minister Luther now is trying with the cabinet business, although he has not been given an official mandate by President Ebert to form a ministry.

Luther's chances are doubtful, although the situation is in a flux and has been for a month, making state-ments as to the future almost guesswork. To outsiders, the fact that a month's efforts have failed to produce a cabinet appear ridiculous, but it has its unfortunate side since the national restlessness may result seriously.

Atlanta Tent & Awning Co.

Enters 19th Year of Industry

Eighteen years in the field of better awning and tent manufacture, serving faithfully the entire south, shattering and establishing records of service, quality of merchandise and workmanship, the Atlanta Tent & Awning Company enters its nineteenth year of manufacture.

The records of this reliable house show that during that period eighty-five per cent of its trade has been maintained permanently, a record that can only be established by being exact, and courteous in doing business and appreciative of every order small or large. Year after year the entire staff of the company have put forth every effort to secure the best possible in every branch of the business from labor to workmanship and material, and in so doing the house has established itself as a leader in the southern field.

A recent accomplishment of the company was the placing of the new style-bilt awning on the market, an awning which embodies every feature from beauty to perfect manufacture. With this type of awning one may match any type of architecture or design they wish, either for the home or place of business. Nothing has been left undone to make the new style-bilt awning show the result of years of perfecting, and to the most discriminating buyer there will be no need of the usual heretofore worry of how their special attention to the new awnings have been erected. At the close of this transaction one can feel secure in the fact that the style-bilt awning will add beauty to their home, for it has been left to the manufacturer to add that touch which will give entire satisfaction, the Atlanta Tent and Awning company.

The fact that eighty-five per cent of its trade has become permanent is proof of its accomplishments. The sales personnel of the company within the next few days will be newly equipped and ready to serve. It is the business of these men to assist the buyer in every detail and to those who are contemplating the purchase of awnings it is suggested they decide at an early date. By so doing, it will assure one of the prompt service when erection is required, and, too, producing a prosperous year, there will be less possibility of the early buyers having to wait on materials that are sometimes sold completely out regardless of how purchases are made by the company.

Officers and representatives of the firm for the coming year are: J. D. Couch, department manager; S. A. Carroll, H. Q. Terrell, J. H. Williams, sales representatives. The company offices and plant are located at East Point, Ga. no Atlanta offices or manufacturing plants are maintained. Estimate requests and all communications are handled direct through East Point. To new residence and business houses recently located and established in Atlanta, the company requests their special attention to the fact that there is but one original Atlanta Tent & Awning Company. It is owned and operated by Couch Bros. Mfg. Co.

Atlanta Window Cleaning Co.

Now Largest in the World

It has been only a few years back when the proprietors of many of our Atlanta stores had to hustle down a little earlier on Friday or Saturday mornings to wash their show windows, or else that they were done by somebody else.

This was not always looked upon as a pleasant task, and in addition to the messiness things up a bit, it very often interfered with the trade of early customers.

Things began to change in this line about 1911, when a man began to be seen quietly cleaning one store window after another, with the aid of a small ladder. He was not the same nuisance you were always afraid of, he was a man who was working with his old long-handle brush.

From the outgrowth of this one-man organization, we have the National Window & Office Cleaning Co., which at present is the largest single window cleaning company in the world.

This company is now employing a large number of people and is equipped to clean anything with a hard surface, from a small metal sign to a skyscraper, with their skilled workmen and special equipment. They can clean a tall building before the average man gets ready to begin on the job.

All the employees in their organization are protected under the working man's compensation law, and as many of them have been in their service many years, the right men or women are always sent to the right job.

When you have any kind of cleaning done by the National Window & Office Cleaning Co. you have the assurance in advance that it will be done right. You also know that you run no risk of breakage or loss when you deal with this firm, for they assume all risks of loss by breakage, which is indeed rare.

This class of work done by them very often costs less than it can be done by others, and the owner of the property does not have further worry, as the National Window & Office Cleaning Co. is so accessible at 11 Whitehall street, with a phone connection of MAin 1724. Try them, once and your cleaning troubles is off your mind and worries in that direction are over.

EVERYBODY WORKS AT BUSY SUPPLY HOUSE THESE DAYS

Everybody works at Barrett & Watson's, 35 South Forsyth street these days, and although this is one of the youngest supply houses in Atlanta, they have been growing very fast for the six years they have been in business. Barrett & Watson's has become to be known as the "House of Service."

All those having business dealings with this busy firm recognize at once that it is a pleasure to deal with Barrett & Watson and soon learn that no matter what their requirements may be in the mill and machinery line, this is one supply house which can supply them on short notice.

All the salesmen with this firm have been having an exceptionally busy season. Frank Baldwin, the leader of the road salesmen, having just returned from an extended trip in southern Georgia. Mr. Baldwin had a record-breaking season in many large orders. E. D. Peek, the city salesman, also has been having some very fine business, and all the house salesmen are doing more business this season than ever before.

This firm is exclusive distributors for the following strong lines: Armstrong Machine works, makers of the celebrated Armstrong steam engine; the Barry company, makers of steel pulleys; John Crane Packing company, makers of metal packing; the Davison Safety Steel Ladder company, makers of the famous safety ladders; the R. & J. Dick company, makers of the genuine Dick blade belt; the A. P. Green company, makers of fire brick, clay and cement; the Grant Leather corporation, makers of the celebrated Slinnot leather belt; the William Powell company, makers of white Star valves; the Richmond Belt Dressing company, manufacturers of the "Winged belt" dressing and the A. Cash company, makers of the best reducing valves on the market.

R. L. Barrett, president of the firm, states that all visitors in Atlanta are invited to make his firm their headquarters while here and any information about the city will be gladly furnished.

"Didn't you have a radio station in Crimson Gulch?" "We gave it up," answered Cactus Joe. "There has been so much shooting in the street that folks complained about our programs being 'nuthin' but static' in Washington Star."

As early as 1857 scientists discovered that typhoid fever germs were transmitted by milk. In 1875 it was learned that septic sore throat was so conveyed. In 1878 scientists found that diphtheria germs lurked in raw milk. In 1885 scarlet fever germs were found in milk bottles. In New York state alone within a period of sixteen months there were recorded sixteen epidemics of typhoid fever, scarlet fever and septic sore throat with a total of 775 cases of disease and thirty-seven deaths due entirely to the use of unsanitary milk. Careful estimates show that about 25 per cent of tuberculosis cases in young children originate from tuberculosis in the dairy cow. Knowing these facts the average parents, in order to protect their children—in order to protect their own health—should use milk that passes through this process which prevents disease.

Pasteurization, as applied to milk, means a process of heating to a temperature of 145 degrees F. and holding at that temperature for a period of 30 minutes, the milk then being cooled immediately to a temperature of 50 degrees F. The term originated from the experiments of Louis Pasteur in France from 1860 to 1864.

The Dixie Dairy Company, Inc., of 19622 Central avenue, comply with the above method to the last letter. Their equipment is also all glass-lined enameled, thus assuring a clean product than can possibly be had from any other equipment.

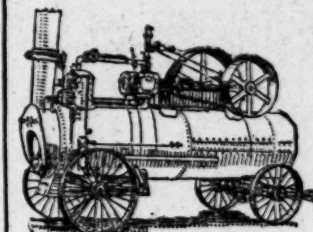

The milk here is not touched in any way by the human hand, as it is automatically handled, even to placing the milk in sterilized bottles and automatically capping the same.

The Dixie Dairy is protecting its customers by pasteurization and is using every safeguard to protect your family, and in parting with them you know that you are getting milk that is healthful and pure.

GUY W. FIROR AGENT IN SUMTER COUNTY
Americus, Ga., January 11.—(Special.) Guy W. Firor, at present country farm demonstration agent for Macon county, has been employed to succeed George O. Marshall in that capacity here.

Firor, who is a graduate of the State College of Agriculture, will sever his Macon county connection on February 20, and it is expected that he will report for duty here immediately following that date.

ROBERT HARDAWAY
JOINS HIS FATHER
IN COAL BUSINESS

The cold, damp and rainy weather we have had the last few days in Atlanta and vicinity has played havoc with the coal bins and many have to be replenished.

The question that confronts the average householder is how to get the best coal for the good money he pays and in buying coal much depends upon the firm you deal with.

The W. D. Hardaway Coal Company, with two yards, one at 133 East Hunter street and the other at 370 Lee street, is having a wonderfully good coal business this winter, due to their increased facilities and the confidence of their many friends and customers.

This firm recently added a new brand of coal called Toloso Gem, which comes from a new mine and is considered to be the best coal ever brought into the Atlanta territory.

This coal was named after it was given many tests under many conditions, and proved itself as producing an unusual amount of heat for the number of pounds consumed.

As the Hardaway Coal Company sells this good Toloso Gem coal for less than many people pay for inferior grades of coal, their many pleased customers are advising their friends to buy this coal just one time for luck.

Since the establishment of the Lee street yard last September, Robert H. Hardaway, son of W. D. Hardaway, has been in charge of the same and on January 1 became a partner in the W. D. Hardaway Coal Company.

This yard, being located right at McCall's crossing, is located in a splendid residential section of Atlanta. When the first announcement was made of the proposed location of a good coal yard at this location, the people of that section expressed much pleasure at the establishing of this new coal yard.

Both yards are well stocked with this Toloso Gem coal and as this firm prides itself upon its excellent delivery service there is no long wait in getting your coal and no short weights when it is delivered.

Atlanta Expert Simplifying Office
WORK IN GEORGIA

The value of higher education is becoming more manifest every day, and we see here and there where young men and boys are becoming connected with large firms, even though they had little or no previous practical experience in their new line.

It is not an uncommon thing to see an established business, that has been running along with a fair degree of increased business year after year, suddenly forge ahead and do an immense amount of business.

This sudden change very often is the result of using new young blood with new systems and ideas into the channels of trade of the old firm, that has been running along on the same line it began on 30 or 40 years ago.

Where it is not feasible to put on a new man in a permanent position, in improving the systems in the office of many of our Georgia concerns, they are turned to the Atlanta Expert Simplifying Office.

The auditing lines to get them out on an up-to-date system to prevent much of the leakage they have every year. Many firms have much wonderful forward strides after having called in Charles Roper & Co., public accountants in the Fourth National Bank building and changed their old complicated methods to a new simplified system that makes all office work, where a large volume of business is being done, much easier and quicker for the entire office force.

Mr. Roper gives personal supervision to the introduction of his new system, and has many good friends and clients in Atlanta, whom he has saved thousands of dollars by working with them for a short period and introducing business and preventing loss of time and money.

Mr. Roper enjoys an enviable reputation as an income tax expert, and quickly figures this vexatious question with very little loss of time. A personal call or phone ring at Walnut 3762 will connect you with his office, and you are in touch with a firm that can give you most excellent auditing service in all its many phases.

Atlanta Firms Now Excel
In Fine Bank Fixture Work

When it comes to getting extra fine bank and office furniture, the whole south looks to Atlanta for they know that the many splendid firms here engaged in this line are among the best in the whole country.

These big Atlanta firms have all the latest equipment and skilled workmen and backed by years of experience in the designing department, they now turn out work that is a credit to our fair city and the south.

One of the leading firms in the bank and store fixture line is the Krueger Manufacturing company of 61 Lakewood avenue, who have been in this line for nearly a score of years and are considered one of the foremost firms of their kind in the entire south.

This firm is just completing some work for the Southern Bell Telephone company in the new Hurt building that will stand long after the present generation has passed away as a monument of the skill of this enterprising firm.

HAS FINE SUITE OF ROOMS

The president and directors' room upon the 17th floor is pointed out in this building and all travelers say that it is more beautiful than a bank directors' room in Denver which has heretofore been considered the finest in America.

RALEIGH BANK HAS HAND CARVED FIXTURES

The Krueger Manufacturing company is at present making the fixtures for the Commercial National bank in Raleigh, N. C. The work done here is to match the finest hand carved work that is known to be in any American bank and goes into a large addition to this bank. Both the outside and inside of the Raleigh bank is of the old gothic style and the carving around the cashier's window alone cost over $2,500 and will be a show sight of that bustling city.

It has been said that our new Atlanta Biltmore hotel is one of the finest hotels in America, and all good Americans believe what is the best in America is the best in the world.

When the George Muse Clothing company recently decided to establish a branch store in this new hotel, they took in consideration their environment, and decided that the finest clothes shop in the world should be established in the finest hotel in the world.

As everybody knows the Krueger Manufacturing company's reputation for fine work, they were called in and the situation explained to them, and after a few weeks' work the George Muse company moved into what travelers say is the finest clothes shop upon the American continent.

EVERY INCH WILL CARRY THE LOAD, SAYS LOCAL FIRM

Owing to the great demand for permanent driveways and garage floors that will stand up under extra loads, much work is being done in this vicinity by the Driveway Company, Incorporated.

This is the firm that lays that Vitrolite concrete, and they are attaining a fine reputation by the splendid satisfaction that these floors and driveways are giving to property owners that had them laid.

Many of our leading architects and landscape artists are calling the attention of the owners of large estates that the rustic finish driveways as laid by this firm can be made to harmonize with the immediate surroundings.

Very often the management of the Driveway company is called in to consult with the property owner and the landscape engineer and some unique driveway figured out that when completed is a source of much pride to all.

The firm has just completed a warehouse floor in The Constitution's new warehouse on Peters street next to the West Lumber company. This floor is 80 by 200 feet and will be subject to the great strain of having several car loads of paper trucked over it every week.

As this firm guarantees that every inch will carry the load, the owner is free of the high upkeep and inconvenience of having to keep up a temporary driveway or garage floor.

Everybody connected with this firm is highly pleased with the splendid outlook for 1925, and as their customers of old and new are all recommending them very highly to their friends, they are looking forward to a very busy year.

BODY OF ARCHBISHOP TAKEN TO CATHEDRAL

Cincinnati, Ohio, January 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—Amid a swirling snow storm, the bronze casket bearing the body of the late Archbishop Henry Moeller was brought from his residence on Norwood Heights this afternoon to the seat of his former arch-diocese at the cathedral in Cincinnati.

The body will lie in state until the funeral services next Tuesday morning.

The medieval pomp and dignity of the Roman Catholic church was adhered to in the ceremony, which brought out a crowd of mourners larger than any seen on such an occasion in Cincinnati since the death of Archbishop Ireland.

The flakes fell fast and melted faster, making it exceedingly wet under-foot for the bishops, priests and seminarians who followed the body.

NELSON M. SHIPP SPOKE IN MACON SUNDAY

Macon, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—Nelson M. Shipp, who recently resigned as chief editorial writer of The Macon Telegraph, filled two engagements at the Tattall Square Baptist church Sunday.

He occupied the pulpit at the regular morning service, taking as his subject "Is Macon Afraid of Jesus Christ?" He also spoke to the men's Baraca class of the church, which held its home-coming day Sunday.

Mr. Shipp occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church twice last Sunday.

The woodwork here is a French gray, sprayed on giving a velvet finish, and is ornamented with beautiful medallions finished in blue and gold. The pleasing effect on the graceful designs of the panel and archways make it a delightful clothes shop to look at for the guests and visitors at this hotel.

The large show windows, or show rooms, as they might be called, extend 50 or 60 feet along the hallway, or arcade of the hotel, and the guests here have the opportunity of seeing in one window the latest fashions in straw hats and white flannels, which they might need on their way to Miami, or to any other place.

The show cases installed there, by the Krueger Mfg. Co., are said to even surpass those of a large New York department store which has heretofore been conceded as the finest in America.

THE OLD MASTER AT HIS BEST

When the management of Hawkes Optical company looked back upon the years gone by, they said to themselves, "Atlanta has been good to us, and let us be good to Atlanta, and build a store that not only Atlanta, but all Georgia may be proud of."

They called in the Krueger Manufacturing company and told them, "We want you to build a store that will be the work is done, Hawkes has at 323 Whitehall street undoubtedly one of the finest stores of its kind, not only in this but in the whole country."

This store is finished throughout with American walnut, and in the panel work the "Old Master" was at his best for it outclasses anything seen in the illustrations of the panel work in the famous old palaces and salons of Europe.

These panels are of the best selected stock, four quartered and what nature designed. Krueger improved upon the result that they are a delight to see by judges of fine woodwork.

The several booths in this store are all finished with the same beautiful American walnut, and are especially designed to give that restful, "home" comfort feeling to the customer, and facilitate the work of the salesmen.

This same fine American walnut, which is of a lighter color than black walnut, is used entirely both in the sales room and the work room in the basement, this beautiful showcases, small tables also being made of the same wood and glass.

A novel feature is seen in the heating radiator being nicely encased, and the handkerchief rack at the entrance to the booth mounted upon handsome solid columns, that is topped off with a beautiful clock that is encased in a beautiful design of hand carved walnut.

The finished job on this store shows a store where all colors blend in the harmony that is so restful to the eye and it is fitting that it should be so in an optical store. The management here extends a cordial invitation to all their kind friends and visitors to call in and see what a beautiful work an Atlanta firm can do.

SOLICITOR FLOURNOY TO INSPECT GALLOWES

Columbus, Ga., January 11.—Solicitor-General Walker R. Flournoy announced tonight that he has advised Sheriff R. P. McGuffin to inspect the gallows at the State Prison at Jekyll Island.

The gallows at Jekyll Island, which is used for the execution of the death sentence, is a structure of wood and is situated on a small island in the middle of the lake.

Mr. Flournoy said that he told Sheriff McGuffin in his letter tonight to secure affidavits from responsible persons for presentation at Griffin for the purpose of showing that the arrangements will call for a private hanging.

"My sole aim," said Mr. Flournoy, "is to protect the state's interests and avoid delay in the execution of the defendants."

"It appears to me," continued Mr. Flournoy, "that the law itself is now on trial. Should these defendants be able to obtain any substantial gain by this procedure I would have some sympathy for them in doing what they have, but in that they can obtain no benefit other than a delay in the final execution of the sentence of the court I feel that this matter now passes beyond the issue between the defendants and the state and thereby directly places the law itself on trial. I shall endeavor to see that the solemn mandate of the court is carried out with the least possible delay and in the manner provided by law."

Solicitor General Flournoy stated that he had a long-distance conversation today with Governor Walker, but it was stated that the governor has not yet officially acted in the case.

Hopes Seamy Appointed.

Mr. Flournoy tonight expressed the hope that Judge Seamy will be requested to preside over the trial of Jones and Bloodworth in Taylor superior court. Judge C. Frank McLaughlin, of the Chatta boocnee circuit, is disqualified to act in the case, owing to the fact that he appeared at clemency hearings as a prosecuting attorney. This was before he became Judge, January 1.

No announcement has yet been made as to whether a special term of the Taylor county superior court will be called for the purpose of resensencing Jones and Bloodworth. The only sentence could be passed in vacation and that a special term would not be called for the purpose of resensencing Jones and Bloodworth. The only sentence could be passed in vacation and that a special term would not be called for the purpose of resensencing Jones and Bloodworth.

Mr. Flournoy said tonight that he expects by Saturday that the arrangements for the hanging will be so as to insure absolute privacy for the execution. As a result of the showing he said he expects to make before Judge Seamy at Griffin the solicitor general believes that the injunction will be immediately dissolved.

In that event the technicalities regarding the hanging arrangements will have been cleared up, according to Mr. Flournoy, and the next thing to be done will be to resentence the boys.

It is believed that in the meantime arrangements will have been made for a judge to go to Butler to set the date of execution in the presence of the defendants.

Some local attorneys do not hold to the opinion attributed to Attorney General Naper that the date can be fixed not in the presence of the condemned boys.

Quite often a legislator boasts that he has put teeth in a law, but just as often the lawyers and the courts find that the teeth are false.—New Orleans States.

Tiny King Victor Emmanuel
Wields Balance of Power
In Italian Political Crisis

While Belaboring Each Other With One Hand, Other Is Used To Curry Favor With Throne.

BY FRANCISCO REA

Rome, January 11.—Into the hands of King Victor Emmanuel has reverted the balance of power in the desperate Italian political battle. The diminutive monarch has played his role well while Benito Mussolini's fascists and the liberals who oppose him have been sowing the cities and countryside with the debris of bitter inter-party strife.

So astutely has King Victor acted his part that now the liberals and fascists are both fighting each other with one hand and endeavoring to curry favor with the throne with the other. It is an unusual situation for a post-war European monarch.

While Mussolini rode fearfully into the troublesome political ambuscade prepared for him by the opposition a week ago, and as fearlessly rode out of it 48 hours later with the ambulance destroyed, little King Victor, who is the smallest monarch in the world, maintained an impeccable position as a constitutional monarch.

King Gains Ground.

The result is that while Mussolini gained a bit from his fourth of July tactics against the opposition, and the liberal forces lost the little that their enemy gained, the king won tremendously during the inter-party scrapping.

The king's position is quadruply fortified. First, he has the boundless confidence of the Italian people. Then he possesses three major prerogatives under the constitution. It is little King Victor who has the power to recall ministers of the crown, grant amnesties and, what is most important, to dissolve the parliament.

As both Mussolini and the liberals strive to tighten their connections with the throne, it is becoming increasingly clear that eventually the king will be called upon to use his powers to liquidate any future political crisis.

Wields Big Stick.

Although his tripartite prerogative seems unimportant during normal times, it becomes of first importance during periods of extreme stress, such as Italy has been experiencing since the armistice. If, for instance, the king should refuse to grant a parliamentary dissolution requested by Mussolini, the fascist government would be cornered. It either would have to return to the chamber and face the adverse vote which presumably would be awaiting it, or it would have to go to the polls for a new mandate of confidence.

This power to dissolve parliament is an enormous weapon. It constitutes the knob on the Italian big stick. The handle of this very real weapon is the confidence of the people and the shaft itself is carved in the very capable, if tiny, hands of King Victor Emmanuel III, diplomatic monarch extraordinary.

SCHOOL CONFERENCE HELD AT ROME TODAY

Rome, Ga., January 11.—(Special.) A conference will be held here Monday by the school superintendents and members of the board of education from about 20 counties in northwest Georgia.

The conference was called by T. E. Wisdom, state school auditor, and matters pertaining to the expenditure of money in the various departments of school work will be discussed.

This is the first of a series of such meetings to be held in different sections of Georgia.

"Just think!" rhapsodizes Dorothy, "if it wasn't for cross-word puzzles I'd have gone through life without ever learning what an anagram was!"

How did they break into the movies?

How long did it take them before they became stars?

What kind of training did they have?

How old were they when they started their careers?

And hundreds of other questions answered in fascinating illustrated biographies of players and directors.

Monte Blue was a soldier of fortune, answering the call of the wanderlust for several years. He started his acting career by digging ditches for D. W. Griffith's Studio at $1.50 a week. His story is intensely human.

Jack Holt was a civil engineer. One day he volunteered to make a spectacular jump with a horse twenty-five feet off the bank of the Russian river. The motion picture company that wanted a double for the stunt landed a star. The rest of the story is thrilling.

Particularly absorbing is the story of the rise to success of D. W. Griffith. He spent his early childhood in Kentucky, where there were no schools. His first job was wrapping newspapers at 50 cents a week. A wonderful example of a self-made man. Griffith had such a keen, vivid imagination his associates called him a revolutionist and told him he could never put his ideas across. Read how he did it! It's a stimulating story!

HARRIS PLAYS BALL AFTER WORKING

Stribling and Flowers Rated Next to Champs

Rickard Names Schoolboy
Best Except Gene Tunney,
Tiger Second Only to Greb

New York, January 11.—(By the Associated Press.)—For the first time in the history of boxing in this country, an international ranking list of the "first ten" in each of the nine divisions has been compiled. The selections have been made by Tex Rickard, internationally known promoter, in a copyrighted article for the February issue of The Ring, national boxing publication. It is intended to make Rickard's ranking list an annual feature along the lines of all-around selections already made annually in baseball, football, golf and tennis.

Recognized champions head all Rickard's selections except the light-heavyweight division, in which Mike McGuire, world's titleholder is rated only fourth. Top position is given to Gene Tunney, American 175-pound king, with Young Stribling, sensational Georgia schoolboy second, and Kid Norfolk, New York negro, third.

The sensational climb of Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro, who is ranked next to Champion Harry Greb in the middleweight division, is an outstanding feature of the list. While other important developments of 1924 are listed by Rickard as follows:

Important Developments.

1.—The collapse of Firpo through defeat by Wills and Weinert and the collapse of Gibbons in the heavyweight class.

2.—The success of Young Stribling, who may have a lot to say in boxing during 1925.

3.—The rise of Sid Terris as a runner-up in the lightweight class.

4.—The decline of Johnny Dundee and his resignation of the world's featherweight championship due to inability to make the weight.

Rickard gives only complimentary positions to Jack Dempsey and Benny

Leonard at the top of the heavyweight and lightweight divisions, respectively, because of their inactivity during 1924.

Dempsey did not defend his title at all, while Leonard was injured in his only important match, a bout at Cleveland, with Pal Moran.

Based on Performance.

Rickard makes it plain his rankings are based on last year's actual performance, and on this basis, puts

Harry Wills at the top of the heavyweights and Terris first among the lightweights.

Rickard ranks Tom Gibbons next to Wills among the heavyweights, because he feels that Gibbons' movement powers are in that division, rather than the light-heavyweight division, where he has done considerable fighting.

Latin-American bid for pugilistic fame is reflected in the assignment of five Central and South American to place on the list. Luis Firpo, who was considered Dempsey's closest rival at the end of 1924, drops to ninth place in the 1924 list, while Quintin Romero, Chilean heavyweight, is placed fifth. Luis Vincentini, of Chile, is sixth among the lightweights.

Jose Lombardo, of Panama, fifth among the featherweights, and Al

Brown, Panama flyweight, third in his division.

Eight nationalities are represented in Rickard's list. The United States has the bulk of representatives with

76, while the Philippines and England are each represented with three fighters; Chile, Panama and Canada with two each; and Argentina and Italy with one each.

Rankings by Rickard.

Rickard's rankings follow:

Mr. and Mrs. Alston Hosts To Distinguished Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Alston entertained at an elaborate tea Sunday afternoon at their home on Andrews drive, inviting a large number of friends to meet Charles Evans Hughes, secretary of state, and Judge and Mrs. Peter Meldrim, of Savannah, Ga.

Mr. Hughes is president of the American Bar association and is in Atlanta to preside over a meeting of the executive committee of the association at which Judge Meldrim, a past president of the organization, will be a distinguished figure.

Other prominent visitors introduced by Mr. and Mrs. Alston were Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Kesselman, of Butler, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Tindon Wright, of Baltimore, Md.; Mrs. Olive Ricker, of Baltimore; W. C. Coleman, of Baltimore; E. T. Fell, of Baltimore; Frederick E. Wadham, of Albany, N. Y.; Chester L. Long, of Wichita, Kan.; R. E. L. Sauer, of Dallas; A. T. Stovall, of Okolona, Miss.; Guyer E. Newlin, of Los Angeles; Frederick A. Brown, of Chicago; Charles S. Whitman, of New York; Edgar Bronson Tolman, of Chicago; Jesse A. Miller, of Des Moines; William M. Hargrove, of Harrisburg, Pa.; William C. Kinkhead, of Cheltenham, A. C. Paul, of Minneapolis, and Charles A. Boston, of New York.

The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Meldrim in the spa and Mrs. Alston, Mr. Hughes and his wife, and Mrs. Alston, who were in the home. Bowls and vases filled with vari-colored early spring flowers were artistically arranged throughout the reception rooms. The beautifully appointed tea table was overlaid with an exquisite imported lace cover revealing an under cloth of pastel green satins. Green crystal candlesticks holding unshaded green tapers were gracefully arranged on the table. A large basket to match the candlesticks filled with lovely pink rosebuds and white hyacinths graced the center of the table, while small green candy baskets added to its loveliness.

Mrs. Alston wore an attractive gown of black chiffon effectively combined with white crepe.

Mrs. Meldrim's handsome costume was fashioned of gray crepe embroidered in silk threads to match. Miss Nan DuBignon, sister of Mrs. Alston, poured tea and wore an imported model of cream-colored crepe, lace trimmed.

The wives of the visiting members of the American Bar association, who accompanied their husbands to Atlanta, will be extensively entertained during their stay in the city. They will be tendered a motor drive this morning to Stone mountain followed by a luncheon at the Capital City club.

This evening they will attend the dinner at the Piedmont Driving club, which will be given in compliment to the members of the executive committee by the Atlanta Bar association. Judge Meldrim will be the official toastmaster at the dinner and Mr. Hughes will deliver an address.

Mrs. T. A. Hammond is chairman of the committee which will act as hostesses to the visiting ladies. She is being assisted by Mrs. John M. Slaton, Mrs. Arthur Powell, Mrs. Robert C. Alston, Mrs. E. E. Pomeroy, Mrs. Hollins N. Randolph, Mrs. Price Gilbert, Mrs. Shepard Bryan, Mrs. Phil in Alston, Mrs. Robert I. Trouman, Mrs. Robert H. Arnold and Mrs. Robert S. Parker. ## BEAUTY CHATS BY EDNA K. FORBES.

HANGNAILS.

If you keep your hands very nicely indeed you'll never have hangnails. But only a very few people will take the time or the trouble to keep their nails absolutely perfect. The rest, at various times, are going to have little hard bits of skin crop up which they'll worry at and dig at, and perhaps bite off, and then have a feverish finger for 24 hours.

Hangnails—nothing but hardened bits of skin, which owing to their dryness and hardness, break away from the live skin. Like a sore place in the mouth, you can't help worrying at them. You should cut them off as soon as they appear. And if you are out of doors and can't get a pair of cuticle scissors, put on gloves, so you won't be worried by them. This is because the temptation to bite at them is strong and because, if you do, you may make your whole finger hot and sore for hours.

Keep the skin around the nails well oiled if you want to avoid these annoying troubles. Every night is not too often to rub cold cream or some emollient into the nails. Drying liquids and powders should be avoided in manicuring, though if they must be used (bleaches are drying) they should be washed off and cream rubbed on afterwards to counteract their effect.

Housework dries the hands so that a dozen hangnails a week crop up. But thick greases, such as lard or petroleum jelly, smeared around the nails before doing the work, will help keep them away, even though scrubbing or dishwashing takes off all the oil in a short time. It takes a great deal of quite hot, soapy water to remove petroleum jelly. I've washed a painful of dishes, having smeared my nails first, and by using moderate care, ended with a little of the oil left around the nail edges.

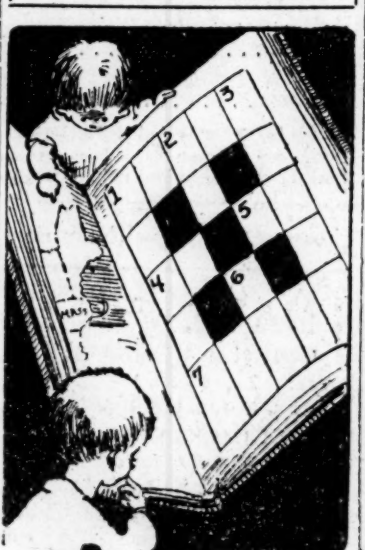

Alice May: If you keep the facial muscles firm, there will be no sagging, and therefore no tendency to a double chin. Eczema must be treated by a doctor.

Freddie G.: Your perspiring hands may come from nervousness as this often happens to people of extreme nervous temperament until confidence is attained in appearing before an audience. After you have become accustomed to playing you will likely not have any of this tendency.

Mary Lee: At 18 years with a height of four feet, 11 inches, your weight should be about 110 pounds.

Tomorrow: Answered Letters. All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Boys' and Girls' Cross-Word Puzzle

HOW TO SOLVE PUZZLE.

The words start in the numbered squares and run either across or down. Only one letter is placed in each white square. If the proper words are found each combination of letters in the white squares will form words. The key to the puzzle—the first word—is given in the drawing.

Running Across.

Word 1 a state. One of the thirteen colonies.

Word 4 a short way of writing railway.

Word 5 the missing word in the sentence: "Were you — school today?"

Word 7 the first word of the Commandment referring to your father and mother.

Running Down.

Word 1 what soldiers do on parade.

Word 2 what you hate to be when playing tag.

Word 3 to go in.

Word 6 the opposite of "off."

SLAMS AND SALAAMS By Louise Dooly

SHOULD women, when they marry, go on with their jobs?

Mose and Mandy have settled the much mooted problem, at least to their own satisfaction, according to Dingbells in the Woman Citizen.

"Mose," said Mandy, "is 'yo' sho' 'yo' didn't marry me for no job?"

"Cose Ah didn't, honey," Mose answered heartily. "Lawsy, no. 'Yo' jes go ahead an' keep 'yo' old job."

ACHIEVEMENT. The awarding of prizes for achievement does not, as a rule, take into account the circumstances—the hardships, the sacrifices, the obstacles which one anticipated the achievement itself.

But the recent award of Pictorial Review's five thousand dollar prize to Mrs. Edward McDowell was a prize who made the prize a valuable contribution to the advancement of human welfare during 1923, will carry to all those who know her work at Peterborough a double sense of gratification.

They will rejoice still more because of their familiarity with her tireless giving of herself to the achieving; a frail self it is, to which unsparring determination gives the impetus of a robust force.

BETTER THAN A FIRE.

WE know now why all the world goes to hear Paul Whiteman and his orchestra.

We know now why we are going ourselves.

We don't anticipate the concert as a musical event, but—well, we heard a woman who had experienced a Whiteman performance in New York say:

"It's wonderfully interesting, this music; just like building a beautiful structure, and then blowing it up with dynamite."

HE CROWDS CONSERVATISM.

WOULDN'T you know that Ivor Stravinsky, the most modern of the moderns in music, the "arch radical," would deny the allegation?

When he landed in New York the other day, and reporters crowded around him, admiring his monocle and his orange shirt and tie, when his sister opened her reveling confession, he said that modernism is "an unmitigated compromise."

"It's a ruined word, 'modernism.' The modernists set out to shock the bourgeoisie, and they only succeeded in pleasing the bolshevik. My music is neither futurist nor passeist, only the music of today."

While his "Sacre du Printemps" is probably the most highly evolved and most radical piece of modern instrumentation (that is, among orchestral works that are taken seriously) he has even condescended to write a "piano rag" and a work for jazz orchestra.

He told the New York Times that while in America, he will make entirely new versions of his works for American mechanical reproducing instruments.

"Not a photograph of my playing," he explained, "as Paderewski has had made of his playing in interpretation, but rather a 'lithograph,' a full and permanent record of tone combinations quite beyond my poor ten fingers to perform; in effect, a new orchestra for the whole piano keyboard."

Now what do you think of that? Mr. Stravinsky's passion for color, by the way, is not limited to the orchestral kind.

His interviewer stated that in his hotel room at work at his piano he had exchanged the orange shirt and tie for a brown and rose sweater. He still wore the monocle, and on each wrist gold bands holding his watch and "other matters."

We geniuses just must be allowed our little idiosyncrasies.

CHERCHER LA FEMME? THEIR LITERARY DIGEST, in recent figures, seems to prove that America's reputation for extravagance is balanced at least to some extent by America's thrift.

It pulls some savings figures which are staggering, and particularly important in their percentage of increase in the past few years, our time of greatest expenditure.

We should find these figures still more significant if they could be related what percentage of the totals are the savings of women.

The reason we are curious is this: We heard a business man say not long ago that the sum total of American extravagance is all it is reputed to be, and in answer to a question as to how he reconciled that statement with the figures showing largely increased savings deposits in the banks everywhere, he declared that this was due to the savings of an entirely new and tremendously growing element of wage earners; namely, the women.

"The young man in his early years of work does not save until he marries," he said. And the speaker had much contact with office men.

Women who work are banking an excellent portion of what they earn."

Whether accurate or not, his viewpoint is interesting.

A NEW FIELD FOR PUBLICITY.

A NEW YORK wit suggests through a newspaper letter that, in order "to settle this troublesome debt question, why shouldn't Frances transfer to us her Society Islands in the Pacific? Our skillful debt commission could doubtless sell them for a good round sum to the Tuesday Opera club."

Whether Monday club or Tuesday, when either promoting body for indigent kings and queens gets ready to colonize the islands with their slightly tarnished values in royalty, an entirely new field will thereby be opened up for indigent publicity agents, male and female.

Even though the successful publicity candidates would have to be satisfied, most likely, to have their pay also dependent on a complacent debt commission or Wednesday opera club.

A BED TIME STORY.

LITTLE boys now growing up need not worry because the office of president of the United States can be filled by only one citizen at a time.

There are other desirable jobs they may aspire to in case the white house is occupied when they are ready to go in.

Michael Pupin, for instance, who began his business career as a boy in Serbia, was elected president of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at its recent meeting in Washington.

FIXING THE BLAME.

THE loud and plaintive wails which have been uttered by theatrical

Clubwomen To Discuss International Relations

Mrs. B. M. Boykin, chairman of the international relationship committee of the Atlanta Woman's club, has arranged an interesting and instructive program for the luncheon, which will be given at the clubhouse Tuesday.

Past presidents of the club, who have made recent visits abroad, together with other highly entertaining speakers will discuss various subjects, dealing with international problems.

The object of this committee of the club is to work directly in line with the federation committees on international relations and in every way possible endeavor to promote world peace.

Will Speak on Europe. Mrs. Boykin has asked Mrs. Irving Thomas and Mrs. William W. Martin to talk on economic conditions as they exist now in Europe. Mrs. Hamilton Douglas will tell of political conditions as she saw them on her recent visit abroad; Mrs. Kathryn Conneratt will discuss European women and their customs; Mrs. Carl Hutcherson will tell something of prohibition overseas; Mrs. Thorneill Jacobs will give some light on the social conditions in the old country; Mrs. W. Woods White, Mrs. E. V. Carter, Mrs. C. K. Ayers, Mrs. M. D. Wilson and Mrs. A. P. Coles will discuss the responsibility of American women in the welfare of their European sisters. Mrs. Bolling Jones will tell many interesting things about the religious conditions over there, while Mrs. J. M. High and Mrs. R. L. Turman will sum up the situation, urging cooperation from every citizen to unite in one great effort in a plea for the world court.

Mrs. Norman Sharp, president of the club, will discuss the importance of every woman becoming familiar with her city, state and national government, in order that she may go about improving conditions in an intelligent and efficient manner. Mrs. J. K. Otley will be present at the luncheon and will offer suggestions as to how women can most successfully aid in this cause.

Reservations Close at Noon. All members of the club are urged to make reservations at once, as reservations will be closed after noon today and Mrs. Boykin, with officers of the club, is especially anxious that every clubwoman may hear the program.

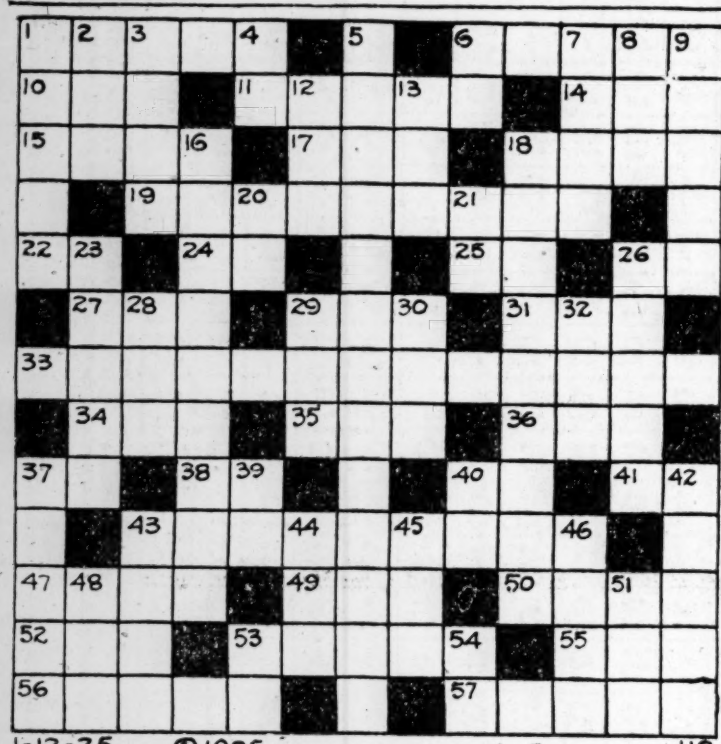

Mrs. G. H. Brandon, chairman of the committee on decorations, will arrange the banquet hall in the most attractive manner. Mrs. Boykin will preside and will introduce other guests, who will speak on subjects of foreign relations, as follows: Mrs. Edgar Alexander, democratic committee woman for Georgia; Mrs. Chauncey Smith and Mrs. T. T. Stevens.

Others assisting Mrs. Boykin in arrangements are Mrs. Samuel Neely, Mrs. H. M. Nichols, Mrs. Arthur Hazard and Mrs. Carl Hutcherson.

HOW TO SOLVE CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

The numbered squares are the starting points for words extending horizontally or vertically or both. One letter to a square. Words end at first black square encountered or border of puzzle. Pick out a word that fits a given definition and space. This gives you a clue to other words that cross it, and they in turn to still other words.

Horizontal.

- Animal related to giraff.
- A flexible twig.
- To be sick.
- Used for postage.
- Sensory organ.
- Celestial body.
- Raw metal.

- Exist.
- Printer's measure.
- Having relation to.
- Bound.
- To struggle.
- Domesticated.
- Age.
- A concrete, composed of sand and gravel.
- Resinous substance.
- To answer.
- Egg-shaped.

Vertical.

- Fertile spot in desert.
- A set or collection.
- Wing shaped.
- Form of "to be."
- Attentive to details, precise.
- West Point (ab.)
- Nipple.
- Possesses.
- To build.
- Thee (Pr.)
- Encountered.
- Took back.

POEMS THAT LIVE

YOU'LL LOVE ME YET.

You'll love me yet!—and I can carry
Your love's protracted growing.
June reared that bud of flowers
you carry,
From seeds of April's sowing.

I plant a heartful now; some seed
At least is sure to strike,
And yield—what you'll not pluck indeed,
Not love, but, may be, like.

You'll look at least on love's remains.

A grave's one violet:
Your look?—that pays a thousand pains.

What's death? You'll love me yet!

AMUSEMENT

"Simon Called Peter."

(Next Week, Atlanta Theater.)
 "Simon Called Peter," a dramatic play by Jules Eckert Goodman, of Robert Keable's famous novel of the same name, will be the attraction at the Atlanta Theater all next week, commencing Monday night, January 19, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday. The play, as was the story, may be termed daring, and possibly shocking to those of us who may not allow ourselves to see the truth as it is enacted before us day by day. "Simon Called Peter" is a most astounding play, besides being one of the most delicate, the most beautiful and the most outspoken love stories of the American stage. It will be presented here by the same great Metropolitan company that played Chicago for three months and Baltimore for five weeks, where the critics and public proclaimed it to be one of the best of the season, and will include Bettie Wales, as Julie, the nurse; Charles Warburton, as the Rev. Peter Graham; Andrew Roudel, as Madeleine, the French girl. Mail orders may be sent in now. The box office sale begins Thursday morning.

GERMAN COLONISTS
 WILL BE SOUGHT
 FOR TWO STATES

New York, January 11.—Plans for colonizing German farmers in Arkansas and southern California were announced today by Walter Schade, for many years immigration agent for the Louisville and Nashville, on his return aboard the liner Cleveland from Germany.

"We will bring over 50 families in April and 50 more during the latter part of 1925," he said.

"The first group will settle upon farms near Texarkana, Ark., paying for the land as they develop it. Only selected farmers will be brought over."

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS
 NO TIME IS SET FOR END OF WORLD
 STATE ADVENTISTS

Seventh Day Adventists have never claimed to be able to tell the date of the second coming of Christ, according to a statement issued here Sunday by
 A. S. Booth, president of the Georgia conference.

His statement follows reports that Adventists recently filed February 6 of this year as the date of the "second coming." Mr. Booth said:

Every now and again some person or sect claims to be able to tell the date of the "day and hour" of the end of the world and second coming of Christ.

Recently a party by the name of Mrs.
 Margaret Bowen, whose home is in Los Angeles, Cal., prophesied that the world would close February 6, 1925, and that just a year later, February 6, 1926, Christ would come personally the second time. Mrs.
 Bowen and her followers use megaphones in many cities publishing the announcement of this definite date of Christ's coming.

These "Revelations" purport to be seventh-day Adventists—which they are not—thus involving an innocent party.

Seventh-day Adventists believe and teach that Christ will come personally, literally with a great manifestation of power and glory. But they never have taught that Christ will come at any particular day or hour.

Seventh-day Adventists publish many papers, tracts, magazines, pamphlets and books. They have publishing houses all over the world. It would require an investment of $1,244.15 to secure a copy of each publication printed by the denomination.

And having been a minister of the denomination for over 15 years, I am emphatic-ly by state that there cannot be found a single statement in all of these publications that points to any particular date of Christ's second advent.

There are two extreme positions relative to the teaching of the second coming of Christ—one is to set the time of His coming, to announce the "day and hour," and the other is to ignore the whole matter. One would close the door to the other.

There are many who believe that the same sermon, before the same people that Christ made the statement that "no man knows the day or hour of the second advent," but the Father (Matt. 24:36). He also gave certain signs whereby we may know that

His coming is "near, even at the door."
 (Matt. 24:33.)

February 6, 1925, will come and pass, and these people will be disappointed. The end part is that such mistakes reflect on the true teaching relative to this wonderful subject, and makes it hard for those who will teach what the Bible has to say of His coming.

TAYLOR WILL LECTURE ON PSYCHO-ANALYSIS

"Jesus, The Master Psychologist," was the subject of a lecture delivered Sunday night at the Central Congregational church by Charles Francis Taylor, psychoanalyst, consulting psychologist, lecturer and writer, of New York city.

This was the first of a series of free lectures which will be given every night this week, except Saturday, at the Central Congregational church by Mr. Taylor, in which he will explain the "Taylor technique," or what he describes as a new and scientific method of solving physical, mental and business problems. The lectures will begin each night at 8 o'clock.

These lectures, it is said, constitute

CROSS

$2,570 in Cash Prizes

The Atlanta Constitution's Cross Figure Puzzle
First Prize $1,000.00 in Cash

Nearly everyone is interested in cross-word puzzles, and working out them for fun and pastime. You can work on The Constitution's cross-figure puzzle for fun and profit. There are 30 cash prizes, ranging from $1,000.00, first prize, $500.00, second prize, $400.00, third prize, etc., on down to $10.00. Someone is going to win these prizes.

Why not you? $1,000.00 is worth an effort. No one has a better chance than you if you get busy and put forth the proper effort.

PROBLEM

Draw three separate chains of circles horizontally (left to right), and three perpendicularly (top to bottom) through the puzzle chart, locating them so as to obtain the greatest difference you can between the sum total of the figures in the circles running horizontally and the sum total of those in the circles running perpendicularly.

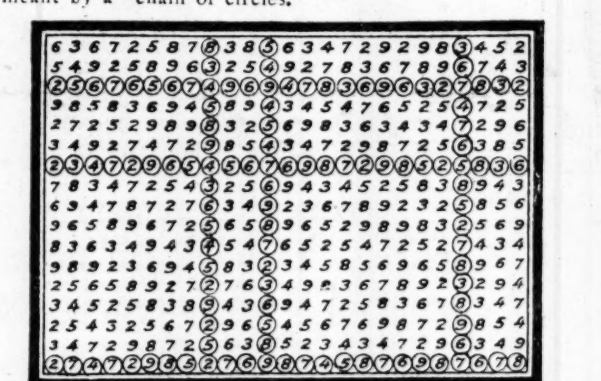

Allow at least two rows, or columns, of figures to intervene between any two chains running either horizontally or perpendicularly. You may allow as many more to intervene as you may find expedient.

The figures in the circles where the horizontal and perpendicularly chains cross or come into contact are to be included in the total of either horizontal chains or the perpendicularly chains, but not both.

There are nine points of contact, but no figure is to be included but once. If all figures in horizontal chains are included, then none of the contact or crossed figures can be included in the perpendicularly total, or vice versa.

You are not required to obtain the greatest possible difference that may exist between the two totals in this cross-figure puzzle. The prizes will be awarded to those submitting respectively the greatest difference without regard to whether any of them is the greatest possible difference or not. The greatest difference you can find, therefore, may win for you the first or some other prize.

The accompanying illustration demonstrates what is meant by a "chain of circles."

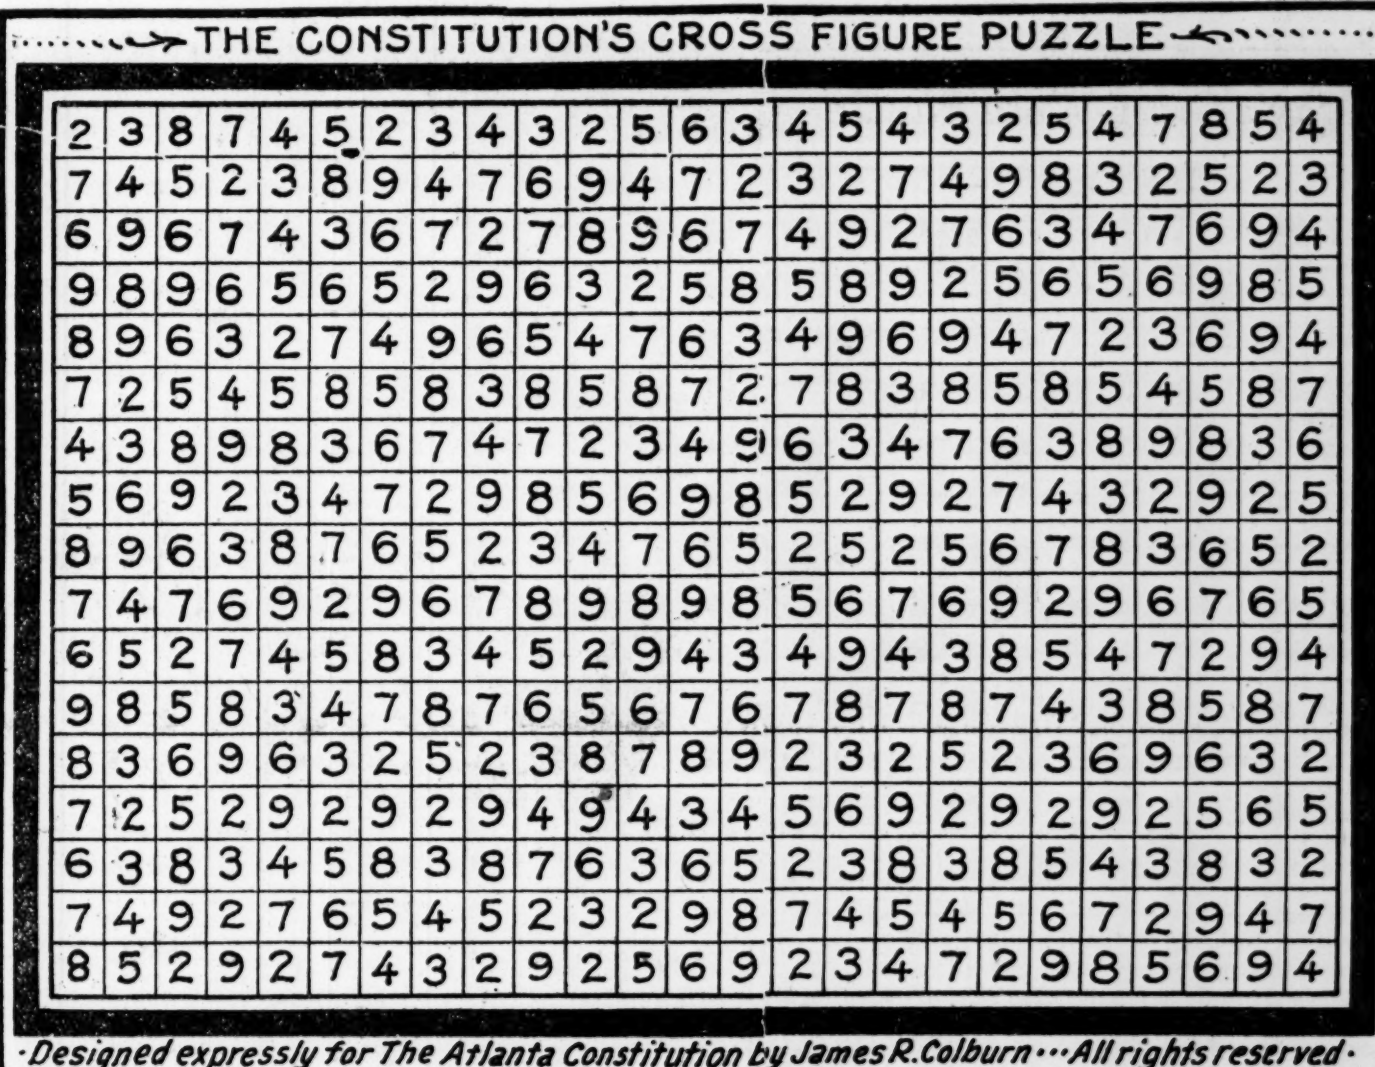

This illustrative chart contains the same number of figures as the cross-figure puzzle. Note there are three horizontal and three vertical chains. The total sum of the figures in the horizontal chains is 1,000. The total sum of the figures in the vertical chains is 1,000. The difference between the two totals is 0. This is the greatest difference possible in this puzzle.

When you have obtained the best solution you can find, insert in the subscription and solution blank the sum total of the figures in the horizontal chains and directly under this the sum total of the figures in the perpendicularly chains and then the difference between the two. Attach this to the chart showing your six chains. This chart must accompany the blank in every instance. Otherwise it would not be possible to verify your work.

The best chart submitted in this contest will be reproduced in The Constitution immediately upon the close of the contest, so that all contestants can check their results with it.

GENERAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. Only bona fide residents of Georgia and adjoining states, meaning Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina, and Tennessee may take part in this contest. Employees of The Atlanta Constitution and immediate members of their families, and persons who have won prizes in the elephant puzzle contest conducted by The Constitution, are barred from entering this puzzle contest.
2. No solution will be accepted unless accompanied by a subscription payment of not less than three months. A contestant who submits a solution, provided payment for not less than three months' subscription is made with each solution. A solution once received and recorded cannot be changed or withdrawn.
3. Only one prize will be paid to any person, household, or group of persons working together. When in the judgment of the contest manager, two or more solutions have been copied or worked in collusion, such solutions may be rejected by him and the subscription money refunded.
4. The Constitution is to decide any question which may arise that is not covered by the published rules, and those entering this contest agree to abide by its decisions and accept them as final and conclusive.
5. All solutions must be mailed or delivered to The Constitution office on or before 9:00 P. M., Wednesday, January 21, 1925. Solutions sent by mail bearing postmark of that date will be accepted. This contest extends from Sunday, December 7, 1924, to and including Wednesday, January 21, 1925.
6. In case of ties, as many prizes will be reserved as there are people tied before any prizes are awarded for less correct solutions; and another puzzle will be submitted to those tied. That is, if two or more people should tie on the best solution, the first two or more prizes will be reserved for them, and they will be awarded in the order of the standing of their solutions of the second puzzle.
7. In the event of ties for any prize, or prizes, a second puzzle of the same type as this cross-figure puzzle will be presented to those tied to solve. However, instead of single figures the numbers will consist of double figures such as 15, 24, 36, etc., and the problem will be to construct a chain of circles across the chart so as to obtain the greatest difference between the sum total of the even and sum total of the odd figures within the circles. If necessary to dispose of further ties, this puzzle will be presented for as many as five additional times under slightly changed conditions and rules, after which, should any ties ensue, each contestant will receive the full value of whatever prize he wins.
8. The contest is open to both old and new subscribers alike. The regular subscription rate of $2.50 for three months, $5.00 for six months, $9.50 for twelve months to the daily and Sunday Constitution will prevail. Daily only subscriptions will not be accepted in this contest. Full amount of subscription must not be accepted in every instance. When sent through an agent, no commission can be deducted.
9. A person who is now taking the daily and Sunday Constitution, and paying a carrier or agent by the week or month may send or bring direct to The Constitution a three, six, or twelve months' payment with the solution. Whatever is due such carrier, dealer, or agent must be paid to him, as the remittance sent us should date from the day it is received. The carrier or agent will be notified by The Constitution of such advance payment. Renewals on mail subscriptions will be extended for the length of time paid for from present paid date of expiration. The contestant can have solution credited in his or her name, and paper sent to some other party. Two six-months' subscriptions at $5.00 each are equal to one yearly subscription. One six-months' subscription at $5.00 and two three-months' subscriptions at $2.50 each, total remittance $10.00, are equal to one yearly or two six-months' subscriptions.

CLOSING DATE

The Cross-Figure Puzzle Contest will close at 9:00 P. M., Wednesday, January 21, 1925.

The earlier you send in your solution the longer time you will have to go over your figures and send in another solution if you find you can do better.

Additional charts may be secured at any time by calling at the address below or sending a self-addressed stamped envelope for mailing them. NO
 SOLUTION CAN BE CHANGED AFTER IT HAS BEEN ONCE REGISTERED.

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with the solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning a prize, it does affect the amount you will receive, should you win one of the first nine prizes, as the value of these prizes is determined by what the winner pays. This is explained in the prize list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

Remember that the subscription and solution blank must not be separated from the cross figure chart. The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning a prize. Accuracy is what counts. No more than one prize will be awarded to any one person.

If you desire extra puzzles free by mail, be sure to inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. Address Contest Manager, The Atlanta Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

THE PRIZE LIST

Note.—The value of the first nine prizes depends on how much you pay on your subscription with your solution of the puzzle. The amount paid will be applied to Daily and Sunday. Daily only subscription payments will not be accepted in this contest. Tri-Weekly subscriptions not accepted.

Red Hair and Blue Sea

By Stanley R. Osborn.

BLUE RIBBON
FICTA

SYNOPSIS.

Palmyra Tree, on board the yacht Rainbow, which is leaving the California coast for the South seas, is startled to see a shadowy hand with a black lace mitt on it thrust through her porthole window. Palmyra is loved by two men, John Thurston and Van Buren. She is not certain which she loves.

Palmyra determines to unearth the owner of that sinister hand. She discovers Ponape Burke, who confesses he is a smuggler of coolies. Burke permits her a glimpse of a savage brown man, Olive, hiding with him.

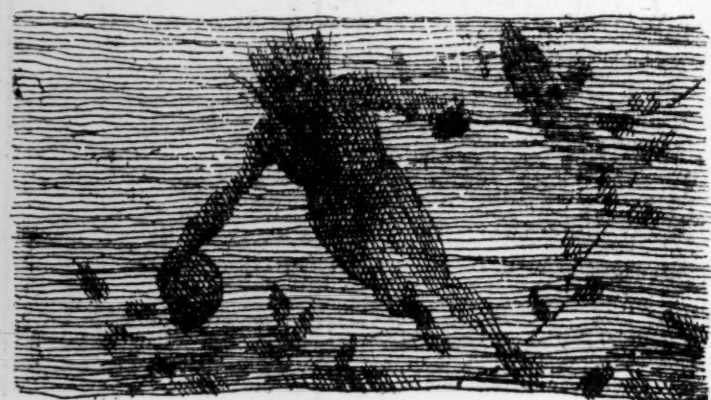

Palmyra gradually convinces herself she is in love with Van Buren. Burke and Olive leave the yacht at Honolulu, and Palmyra's engagement to Van Buren is announced. The yacht Rainbow is wrecked. The party lands on an uninhabited island. Burke appears on the Pigeon of Noah, and promises to rescue them. Palmyra goes on board alone to investigate, and finds herself a prisoner. Burke sails away with her, telling her it was he who wrecked the Rainbow. Thurston and Van Buren start at dawn in vain pursuit. Burke grows ugly at Palmyra's refusal to listen to his loving, and leaves her alone on a deserted island with barely enough food to last until he shall return for her.

In the morning she sees Olive, the brown man, swimming toward her. Exhausted from a long swim, he falls asleep. When he awakens, he attempts sign language. Finally he communicates to her the idea that he and she are to swim away together in the limitless sea. Making her a life preserver of coconut husks, they start their trip across the empty ocean. They rest at night on a barren beach. Palmyra manages to send a message for help, and again they start their ocean journey. Burke's ship is again seen in pursuit of them. By clever maneuvering Olive eludes it. A ship is sighted at last. It is the Imperial Japanese gunboat with Thurston and Van Buren aboard and Commander Sakamoto in command. Olive's signals fail to reach the men in the gunboat, and they pass on without observing the tragic pair in the canoe. Olive is caught by a clam, and death throes him.

INSTALLMENT XLIII.

IS ESCAPE POSSIBLE?

Why, why had she not warned him! She'd known the danger. Ponape Burke had told: a native diver—shell clamped down upon his hand. Two fingers caught in that death grip. Awfully, with his knife, the boy had chopped off the fingers—escaped. But Olive had not even that alternative.

Then the man followed.

Down there, scarce a dozen feet away, the last of those dreadful silvered blobs must even now be rising. Even now his last struggle was ending, and she—she could not save.

But, as the girl lay, shuddering, something wet touched her arm. Recalling with a gasp, she shuddered herself looking into the dripping face of the brown man, which smiled pleasantly. For a moment she stared at it. Then the face became vague, distant—disappeared.

When she reopened her eyes, she knew she had fainted. Olive, sustaining himself with one square hand upon the canoe, was holding her in place. But for that grasp, she herself must be down there now, lying where she had thought to see him lying—dead.

She looked at this creature, awed. He was alive, seemingly unharmed; rather pleased with himself and her astonishment. She mustered courage to peer down into the water. The shell of the giant bivalve again was somewhat raised, and there was no sign of that which she had dreaded to see. She leaned out farther: Olive's feet were both where they should have been.

He drew the knife she had given him and with a gesture or two made all plain. Where the frenzied youth, losing his presence of mind, had hacked off his own fingers Olive had thrust the blade in between the valves of the clam's armor, and severed the muscles that snapped these together.

Having explained, he rescued the coconut shell, which was bobbing away on the water, and prepared to dive anew. When she understood the girl cried out in protest. "I—I cannot bear it!"

He divined her meaning, grimaced back reassuringly. A moment later he was once more crouched, holding to the lava floor. And once again there came, startlingly, that stream of silver bubbles. Only now did she see that this had not been the breath of life, but air from the nut, which had slipped out of his grasp when the trap chopped down upon his foot.

For an interval the bubbles came flying up. Then the man followed. He placed the shell in the canoe, lifted himself aboard, scarcely listed the frail craft from an even keel. One sweeping glance, lest Ponape Burke might have come upon them unawares. Then he hoisted sail, and they were away.

The girl, still dizzy with shock, sat and stared at the coconut bottle that had brought tragedy so near. Olive, amused, presently picked it up and offered it. When she did not respond, he raised the shell above his mouth, tilted it until the contents spurted out—and drank!

Palmyra laughed hysterically. He had filled the thing at the bottom of the ocean a hundred feet from land. Yet now he drank.

She took the sphere when he offered it again, and tasted experimentally: sweet fresh water; clear, cold as from a spring.

Her companion attempted to explain. He pointed in at the water in the shell, then at the island, then to the sky above. He dipped his hand into the sea, pointed again toward the sky, held his fingers so they should drip. Palmyra saw that here was the product of rain falling upon the land. But the South sea native could not explain that the confirmation of certain islands is such that their only spring opens on the ocean floor. In some of these the vent is uncovered at low tide; in others one must always dive.

The girl drank deeply. Then, holding the shell upon her knees, she sat for a long time, looking covertly at this brown being.

He had all but given life itself that she might have the water she craved.

And he would have given life itself had she taken his knife and not granted her own.

He would be—dead!

The day which followed was much like those preceding except that as the hours went by, Palmyra discovered in her navigator a growing dissatisfaction. He grumbled, felt the wind, glowered at the sky. Could it incredibly be that this infallible machine was at fault?

Presently, in explanation, the brown man pointed to the sand in the canoe—an island. Then he extended his arm, the island was located; here ahead and somewhere, unseen, to starboard. Then he flattened out his palm horizontally, laid his cheek upon it, attempted an expression of relaxed comfort; closed his eyes and began to snore.

The girl dared not accept the glorious vision this pantomime created. But so evident the good-natured satisfaction of the grin which followed, that she gave a cry of delight. Their haven was at hand!

Soon would this nightmare of wind and sea be ended. Soon would she be liberated from this rack of torture. She could throw herself down in never-waking slumber.

Her hand stole toward the opening of her dress and her fingers closed caressingly over the handle of the knife hidden there. For Olive had given it back. And having done so with their destination almost in sight, he must have meant it as a symbol. She looked at the brown man—and some way, somehow—she was not afraid.

But her companion's mind was on things more immediate. He startled her by making upon his forehead the sign of the scar. He pointed to windward and to lee, and shrugged. Burke, then, might patrol these waters. Very probably he lay in wait.

Olive's explanation went on. Much of it she did not get. But she saw the breeze was lagging, the sun rushed forward with disconcerting speed. He had hoped to make his landfall in the dark of the coming night. But their progress was too slow. Ponape Burke could call the morrow's sun to his aid.

From time to time Olive pointed out the position of the invisible island. Yet when night came, he did not make for it, but sailed wide of their course. She saw his aim was to outwit the white man by approaching the island from a direction unexpected.

She wondered how Burke had known they would come to this particular place. Was it Olive's home? She hoped the enemy was still drinking, so that his powers would not be at their best.

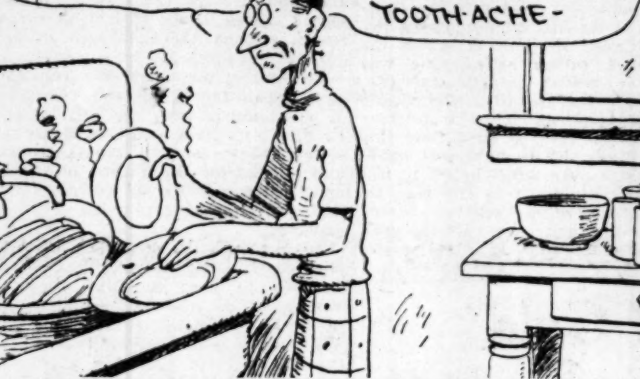

With daylight, the sun, leaping from behind the morning bank, brought an intensity of emotion. The girl trembled with excitement, the savage grinned with unbelievable ferocity. For there before them loomed their fate; a dim shape, vague, rising between sea and cloud, incredibly remote. An on the course lurked the Pigeon of Noah, ready to swoop down upon them, a bird of prey.

Away and away they flew.

MODERN FANTASY JOKES

MY EMOTIONAL JINX.

By Norman V. Rags.

I was sitting with my darling; We were gazing at the moon And the dreamy, summer languor Made my senses almost swoon; But just when my warm emotions Were attuned to highest pitch, My poor soul went dropping earthward—

For my nose began to itch!

I was seated at a concert Where a master weaved his spell, And his playing seemed celestial, Now 'twas soft and now 'twas swell, Soon my soul was filled with longing Nothing earthly could appease; Then the spell was rudely broken— And I simply had to sneeze!

It has always been my trouble That at moments most sublime

HOW TO WRITE JOKES.

Joke writing is not difficult. In this week's Gossip Shop you will be given advice on joke writing. Follow it. You ought to soon become expert.

First of all: Be honest in your work. Do not steal a joke from an old paper—or a new one for that matter—fix it up with new names and a different location, and then send it in as ORIGINAL.

You cannot fool the Editor of FUN SHOP. Should he find you practicing deception your work will be barred from these columns. When you have mastered the art of writing jokes, you will be surprised at your output. And your income.

to goodness, I've never seen anything like what I ran across one season in Florida.

"It was just after the war. The ponds had not been fished for several seasons and fish... say, as I came toward the little pond, way back in the timber, where I was aiming to fish, it looked like the whole surface of the water was lifting itself up. Fish were jumping by the thousand.

"At first I caught several hundred with my landing net, the way a kid catches butterflies. Then I threw in my line and hauled them out till my arm ached. Finally, it seemed they didn't jump as much. Occasionally one would show himself but not often.

At last I figured it out.

"When I had first struck the pond those fish were so tightly packed in that pond that they couldn't breathe and they simply had to come up for air."

"Attention, company," announced the director sharply.

HALL OF JUSTICE IN FRISCO BOMBED

San Francisco, January 11.—A detective narrowly escaped death early Sunday when a bomb exploded in the hall of justice building here. The bomb, police say, was placed in an attempt on the life of Chief D. J. O'Brien of the San Francisco police department. O'Brien left his office nearly a few minutes before the explosion.

The bomb demolished the telephone booth and blew in the wall of the room used by the pawnshop detail of the police. No one was in the room at the time.

Detective Sergeant Robert Malburg owes his life to the fact he did not have a nickel in his pocket.

Malburg approached the booth, felt in his pocket for a five cent piece, and finding none, turned away. He had barely turned a corner in the corridor when the explosion took place.

A dragnet for the supposed perpetrator of the bombing had resulted in no arrests late Sunday afternoon.

Daring Exploration Party Sets Forth To Find Site of Cradle of Civilization

ANCIENT CITY IN SOUTH AMERICAN WILDS IS OBJECTIVE

Brazil of a people called the "Orizés Process," inhabiting some fastness in the far interior. During the earlier days of the Portuguese settlement, their exploration produced constant reports of the "white and clothed" Indians, who disappeared as mysteriously as they appeared. Such reports reached down to half a century ago, when they ceased, except for sporadic stories of isolated settlers.

"There are tribes with women chiefs—tribes of sun worshippers with religious terms almost identical with the Indian names—tribes who know and name the planets—tribes who sing to the sun and have the most beautiful voices. There are the Macabes, still unknown outside, who worship Vira Vira, the Sun, known to the Incas as Vira Cocha.

"The Amazonas, or Aikeambennas, the women who live alone—were not mythical, but the region which they inhabited is still unexplored. The Mariguitas were robust people with women chiefs, whose women fought like the Amazons. The Cambeanas were fair Indians working cotton and using rubber. The Ibrajias, according to the Tapuya tribes, ornamented themselves with plates of gold. Amazon, still known with the same name and the same habits, in Assyria and Greece. 'Woden,' or 'Odin' is still worshipped by some Amazon tribes, identical with Scandinavian mythology.

It is expected that the expedition will require about twenty months to complete its investigations. Col. Fawcett will attempt to relay dispatches by Indian runners, up to and from the last outpost of civilization, and later, if possible, from the forbidden city itself. By special arrangement with Col. Fawcett, through the North American Newspaper Alliance, The Constitution has arranged for publication of these dispatches, and all news of the expedition will be published exclusively in this newspaper and other members of the Alliance.

MONROE TO VOTE ON RETAINING AGENT AND POLICE

Forsyth, Ga., January 11.—(Special.)—The board of county commissioners believe in absolute democracy. In order that the voters of the county should themselves have an opportunity to say if the farm demonstration agent and the two county police should be retained in 1925, they have called an election, and whatever the decision of the election will be carried out by them.

Sentiment in the county is divided on these two subjects.

Dream of Ponselle Sisters Becomes Glorious Reality

PACKED OPERA HOUSE ACCLAIMS THEM

New York, January 11.—A dream came true tonight for the Ponselle sisters, Rosalia and Carmela. They sang together in the Metropolitan opera house to a great audience, which included the younger, Rosa, as a favorite prima donna, and the elder, Carmela, as the sister whose self-sacrifice had made possible the rise of Rosa to stardom.

Several years ago in Meriden, Conn., so the story goes, the Ponselles were choir and vaudeville singers—Rosa, a soprano, and Carmela, a mezzo-soprano. Each had ambitions for the opera and each, the critics said, had a good voice. But training was expensive and their father was an ice dealer—money was none too plentiful. So Carmela insisted that Rosa should use her part in the chorus for further study, while she herself would stay on the vaudeville stage.

Rosa's phenomenal success at the Metropolitan on the night of November 20, 1918, when she sang "La Forza del Destino" with Caruso, was the beginning of a brilliant career in opera. Carmela remained obscure. Tonight, Carmela got her "bravos" in the world's most famous music hall. Singing the aria "O Don Fatale" from "Don Carlos," she was recalled a half dozen times by the audience, which filled the great house from orchestra pit to the deep top gallery; and then a half-hour later, she shared with the singing of the duet in the second act of "Aida."

Lawrence Tibbett, the youthful California baritone who received an ovation a week ago for his part in "Falstaff," with the great soprano, also sang tonight and was recalled repeatedly.

'MA' FERGUSON TO ENTER OFFICE AT NOON TUESDAY

Austin, Texas, January 11.—The Texas legislature will convene for its 33rd biennial session here at noon next Tuesday. Legislation affecting schools, roads, elections and taxation, will receive the most attention. Greater economy in state government will be sought.

Chief interest centers in the inaugural of Miriam A. Ferguson as Texas' first woman governor, scheduled for noon Tuesday, January 20. Elaborate preparations are being made for the event.

Mrs. Ferguson will come here the latter part of the week from her home in Temple. She occupied the hall of her daughter, Mrs. George S. Nalle until her inauguration. Then for the second time she will move into the governor's mansion. During the time her husband, James E. Ferguson, was governor, 1914-17.
